Rains Renew Midwest Flood Threat; Cold Weather Coming

TELEPHONE LINEMEN repair damaged phone lines near Terre Haute, Indiana, after a severe freezing rain storm caused the lines to break under the weight of ice. The men are forced to work from rowboats in the flood waters of the Wabash River, which is said to be at its highest level in years. More than 4,000 persons have made homeless in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri as floods have broken through levees and inundated the lowlands. Troops and National Guardsmen are patrolling the area. (International Soundphoto)

Rain, whipped by a strong wind, struck the community again Monday night, and was continuing well into Tuesday. Predictions, however, were for colder temperatures and snow late Tuesday and Wednesday.

The mercury dropped to 51 degrees during the night, two degrees cooler than the afternoon maximum Monday of 53 degrees.

The mercury was still mounting at 8 A. M. Tuesday, when it had reached 56 degrees.

Rainfall during the night totaled 30 of an inch, bringing to 4.52

inches, the total precipitation so far this year.

With continued rain Tuesday, streams which had barely receded within their banks, were expected to rise sharply again.

Monday, the fire department sent its big new truck out removing limbs, broken off in the ice storm last week and still lodged high in trees in the city.

Fire Chief George Hall said the limbs were being removed to prevent them from falling and injuring passers-by. The job was made relatively easy by the big 70-foot extension ladder, a part of the fire truck's equipment.

An Alaskan-born storm whistled through the peaks of the Siskiyou Mountains in California today, bringing rain, snow and high winds to the coast.

In middle America rescue workers sloshed through muck to plug leaking dikes along rampaging rivers.

The blast that hit Northern California was termed a "virtual blizzard."

More rain fell today over parts of the flood-stricken areas of Illinois and Indiana. Rescue crews worked to halt further breaks in levees along rampaging rivers and streams.

Strong winds prevailed throughout most of the flood region, creating a new hazard. Weather bureau officials said the high winds would make "heavy seas" of water in the lowlands. But temperatures were mild, bringing a measure of relief to the hundreds of persons who have been forced to flee from their homes.

Damage to crops and property mounted as waters spilled over thousands of acres of rich farm lands. The critical situation at Vincennes, Ind., appeared somewhat eased as the rain-swollen Wabash River receded slowly during the night. Army engineers, directing sandbagging operations on the weakened levees for two days, expressed the belief the worst of the flood was over.

Meanwhile, a cold wave, with winds up to 50 miles an hour, moved across Montana, the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota. The strong winds whipped snow into huge drifts in some areas of the cold belt. At Willmar, Minn., vis-

Battered Ship Asks Protection

Two U. S. Destroyers Now in Danger Spot

By WAYNE RICHARDSON
ABOARD THE FLYING ARROW, Jan. 10—(P)—Two United States destroyers, anchored near this shell-battered freighter late today while a Chinese nationalist gunboat hovered on the horizon.

The destroyers Bausell and Sticckell steamed here to help patch up the riddled Flying Arrow for whatever is in store for her in the future.

The ship was hit by 30 to 40 nationalist gunboat shells in international waters yesterday. She was about twenty miles off the Chinese mainland when the attack started.

Her master, Capt. David Jones, 31, of Chicago, says the shells rendered her unseaworthy. He asked for U. S. Naval escort to the nearest port for repairs.

Socialized Medicine Antidote

Health Insurance Proposed

BY MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(P)—Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) wants to know why you shouldn't buy health insurance much the way you can buy a $50-deductible accident insurance policy for your car.

Brehm, a dentist, said some variation of the plan may be proposed in Congress as an alternative to President Truman's compulsory health insurance program.

As far as he knows, Brehm said, he is the first to propose the idea. He said he discussed it with Dr. Joseph S. Lawrence, president of the American Medical Association, and other doctors some months ago.

"They thought it a novel and promising approach," Brehm told a reported, "and said it should be studied by insurance experts in an effort to work out some actuarially sound variation of it."

The plan, he said, must be cheap enough for persons in low income brackets to afford, and tight enough so that persons with fancied ills or a desire to "run to the hospital with every little cold" can't exploit it.

He expressed belief such a plan, with voluntary participation, is preferable to the compulsory insurance program the president wants. He said it might be necessary to provide supplemental charity programs for those who can't afford such policies, and to exclude persons in high income brackets.

"In the conversations with Dr. Lawrence," he said, "I suggested that possibly a man might get a low-premium policy that would cover the run-of-the-mine ailments any householder expects through the year, with the privilege of converting it in time of emergency at some nominal premium to cover a major operation or illness."

"There is a popular accident insurance policy which lets you pay a low premium rate as long as you don't file any claims resulting from accidents. If you have a major accident, the insurance company will pay for it if you pay the first $50."

"Roughly, that's what I have in mind here, but the idea was cast out for insurance and medical experts to work on and refine if they liked it, or discard if they didn't. I'm not planning to introduce such a bill myself, but I hear it may be covered by someone else."

Just A Publicity Stunt

Girl and Her Gambling Horse Have Even Blase Reno Gabbing

RENO, Nev., Jan. 10—(P)—Lucky, the gambling horse, had even this blase town talking today.

And that's exactly what his owner, 24-year-old Susan Wallace, wanted. She admitted it was all a publicity stunt to further her singing career.

Miss Wallace arrived from Hollywood with a $10,000 bankroll, Lucky and a car and trailer.

She found a gambling spot that didn't object to horse customers. (It's run by a former publicity man.)

The customers made a double take when the white horse first walked in.

Even the croupiers at the roulette wheels admitted it took them a while to get accustomed to a customer wearing horse shoes on his feet.

This is the way Lucky does his playing: He takes a silver dollar in his mouth from Miss Wallace's hand. He moves up and down the table, drops the dollar in a square. For each turn of the wheel he selects three numbers.

Miss Wallace bets on the same numbers.

Other customers play their cash

on Lucky's horse sense, too.

Miss Wallace said Lucky first learned to gamble shooting dice with the stable boys. He's sticking to roulette here.

The horse's 24-year-old manager said she hopes to get enough money to continue her singing career—either through Lucky's winnings or through a job from the publicity. She says she does all kinds of singing.

Sunday, she won $300. She was about even last night.

More Doctors Needed..Fewer Being Trained

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10—(P)—The American Conference of Academic Deans yesterday called on schools of medicine to overhaul their training programs to provide more doctors.

A resolution adopted called for a higher priority on training more doctors rather than using facilities for post-graduate training exclusively.

The resolution was adopted after a special committee of the conference of deans declared medical schools should investigate using the wartime accelerated training program as a means of turning out more doctors.

Dean William S. Guthrie of Ohio State University told the deans that fewer doctors are being graduated now than in 1905 and yet the population has doubled. He declared applicants for admission to medical schools have only one chance in 14 of being accepted.

Dean Simeon E. Leland of Northwestern University asserted the medical profession "is the only profession in which the element of competition comes only at the beginning."

He declared medical schools are failing to make full use of their facilities and added:

"We need more and better doctors and if we had more we would have better doctors."

Dean Guthrie asserted that "medicine has an obligation to the public to train more men yet students face strict rationing of careers without respect to the country's needs."

"On yes it is," replied Mrs. Carey, "because I have only 50 cents in my handbag."

At that point, Mrs. Carey told police later, the thief turned and fled but not before he grumbled:

"Just my luck to nail a dame with no dough."

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10—(P)—When a thug pointed a pistol at Mrs. Jane Carey in suburban Merion last night and demanded her money, she just giggled.

"This," said the robber sternly, "is no laughing matter."

"Oh yes it is," replied Mrs. Carey, "because I have only 50 cents in my handbag."

At that point, Mrs. Carey told police later, the thief turned and fled but not before he grumbled:

"Just my luck to nail a dame with no dough."

Business Lost In Strike, Claim

50,000 Miners Idle As Pressure Put On

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—A retail coal firm today sued John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers Union for $20,000 damages under Ohio's old Valentine Anti-Trust Act.

The Davis Coal Company of Dayton filed the action in Franklin County common pleas court. Attorney Philip C. Ebeling of Dayton said it was the first suit by an Ohio retail coal dealer in the current coal mine controversy.

Nine Ohio coal operators last week sued Lewis and the union for $8,872,000 damages and asked an injunction against the three-day mine work week now in force generally.

The Davis Company did not ask an injunction. The company claimed it should have $10,000 damages because Lewis-restricted coal output caused the firm to ration its customers. The Valentine Act permits double damages for injured parties.

Others May Follow

The Davis Company is one of Dayton's three largest coal retailers. It is operated by John S. Davis, Sr., and Jr., under a partnership. The firm is a member of The Dayton and State Coal Retailers Associations.

Ebeling of the Dayton firm of Pickrel, Schaeffer and Ebeling said he did not know whether other retailers plan similar suits.

"I should think they would," Ebeling told newsmen by phone. He said Lewis' limitation of coal production violated the Valentine Act and had hurt the Davis firm's business.

Berea Bank Looted During the Night

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—(P)—Burglars entered the Olmsted Fall branch of the bank of Berea and an adjoining post office during the night and escaped with $4,000, police reported today.

Donald Shiner, police chief of the neighboring community, said the thieves were unable to open an inner bank safe, which contained $20,000. It was protected by a time lock.

The bank does not have a watchman. It is protected only by a manually-operated siren on top of the one-story brick structure.

Ohio Farm Output Raised 25 Percent

WOOSTER, Jan. 10—(P)—Ohio farmers on the average raised 25 per cent more crops per acre in the 1940s than they did in the previous 10 years, a farm expert said yesterday.

J. I. Falconer of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station said the wheat harvest increased 16 per cent, corn 26 per cent, and hay 28 per cent.

Better seed, better care of the soil, more favorable weather, and greater use of tractors all helped, he said.

Committee to Study State Governments

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—The Ohio Program Commission's committee to study state governments will include two former governors. They are George White, now a Marietta banker, and Myers Y. Cooper, a Cincinnati real estate broker. The general assembly will receive the committee's report in January, 1951.

White Men Hunted For Negro Massacre

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Jan. 10—(P)—A critically wounded Negro early today gasped out a story that three white men massacred three members of his family after attempting to rape his 14-year-old step-daughter.

The Negro, Thomas Harris, was shot in the back and lung, 100 white possemen combed central Mississippi for two of the white men. A third was captured yesterday.

District Attorney Henry Rodgers identified the captured man as Malcolm Whitt, 32. He said the two still hunted are Leon Turner, 38-year-old former convict, and Wendell Hill, Malcolm's 24-year-old brother.

Rodgers said all three had been held in Attala County Jail on charges of attempting to rape the 14-year-old stepdaughter, Pearl-line Thurman. But eleven days ago they escaped, using a beer can opener to dig a hole in a cell wall.

Rodgers said Harris gave him this statement.

The two Whitts and Turner came to his home last Sunday night.

Turner told Harris he was going to have Harris' stepdaughter "or we're going to kill the whole damn bunch."

He marched into the kitchen while one Whitt stood guard at the front door and the other at the back. Turner shot Harris in the back and then went into the bedroom where he killed three children: Frankie C. Thurman, 10, Mary Burnside, 8, and Ruby Nell Harris, 4. The relationship of the children to Harris was not immediately determined.

The white men were armed with a .22 rifle, another rifle of undetermined caliber, and a .38 caliber pistol.

Rodgers said Pearl-line told him she flopped out of bed and ran to the back door but was turned back by one of the Whitts. She then scampered through the front door and under the house only to be pursued by the other Whitt who told her he would kill her if she did not come out.

Clamor for Economy May Be Just Clamor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(P)—A congressional economy clamor grew louder today around President Truman's $42,000,000,000, out-of-balance budget.

Nearly all the Senators and house members were saying openly or behind their hands that spending will be too high, the deficit will be too big and they ought to get out the ax and go to work on the budget.

Yet in years past all that talk of economy in January often has turned out to be still just that in June—still just talk. And some lawmakers are aware that this year's economy campaign also could turn out to be more talk than action.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) summed up that point of view: "I had been anticipating a deficit. And it is going to be difficult to pare it in this election year. We may be able to make some reduction but not to any great extent."

Benefits for Ohio Total $91,896,364

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—A spokesman said today Ohioans got $91,896,364 worth of federal health, education and social welfare benefits last year.

J. K. Johnson of Cleveland, regional director of the Federal Security Agency, reported the total. He said it included payments under the federal old-age and survivors insurance program. Preliminary figures showed that 340,735 Ohioans shared benefits.

Ohio State Band Upsets California

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 10—(P)—Bandmaster Charles C. Cushing believes bands should be composed of musicians—not acrobats.

So he resigned yesterday as director of the University of California band after the school paper editorially roasted the Bears' showing at the Rose Bowl game in comparison with the performance of Ohio State's music-makers.

Cushing observed the "initial function of a band to perform music has been superseded." He said he wouldn't turn the marching musicians into a machine of drilling acrobats and bare-legged majorettes.

War Material Loaded in U. S. For Formosa

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10—(P)—Ninety carloads of tanks and armored cars consigned to the Chinese government at Formosa were loaded aboard a Turkish freighter at a Philadelphia pier today.

Officials of the Reading Company disclosed that the tanks and cars were transported over Reading lines from "somewhere in Ohio" to a pier along the Delaware River in Port Richmond, located in the northeastern section of Philadelphia.

Loading was begun this morning aboard the 8,077-ton freighter, S. S. Mardin, owned by Marta T. A. S. of Istanbul, Turkey.

Agents for the ship, B. H. Sobelman & Co., Inc., said the ship will depart next week. The agents declined to give detailed information on the consignment, stating an agreement with the Turkish company prohibits release of any news reports to the press.

The foreign freight department of the Reading Company said the ship is consigned to the Chinese government. There was no announcement of individual names ordering the equipment. (The 90 tanks and armored cars were provided by the Lima, O., Ordnance Depot.)

Physician Jailed For Tax Chiseling

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—(P)—Dr. Nevil J. M. Klotz, 45, of Wadsworth, O., who has been charged with filing fraudulent income tax returns, today changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed remained him to jail until time for passing sentence.

The government charges the practicing physician filed returns for 1943, 1944 and 1945 which said he had a net income of $25,935 on which $6,923 tax was due. The government claims his net income was $65,111 on which $25,447 was due for the three years.

Wilmington Candidate

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—Lawrence R. Lyons of Wilmington, 41-year-old lawyer, yesterday announced his candidacy for Republican nomination as state treasurer.

Farmers Are Real Victors

Fayette County needs no Pied Piper to rid its barns and rural homes of rats and other destructive pests.

All it takes is a little competitive spirit worked up among its Future Farmers of America chapters.

In this case, the competitors were the members of the Washington C. H. and Jeffersonville high school F. F. A. chapters.

The battle to kill the pests started November 15, less than two months ago. Last week it came to an end. A tabulation of the kill was made.

When all the figures had been added up the two F. F. A. chapters could claim they had rid the county of 2,782 pests.

Legalized Gambling Urged in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(P)—Gambling popped up today as a hot political and moral issue in New York State after Mayor William O'Dwyer's proposal that betting on sports contests be legalized and supervised by the state.

Chances for adoption of the proposal were viewed as dim at the state capitol at Albany where several members of the Republican legislative majority voiced opposition.

The Mayor's suggestion, however, gave rise to spirited discussion in many quarters. Some hailed the suggestion as practical horse sense, in the view of realities. Others condemned state-licensed betting as a threat to the public's morals.

Still others—including the leaders of the sporting world—remained guardedly non-committal on the potentially hot political issue.

Record Goal Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(P)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today described its 1950 March of Dimes campaign as the "most crucial" in its history and set a record goal of $52,000,000.

To Confer With Boyle

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—Joseph Fichter, master of the Ohio Grange and other farm leaders are scheduled to confer today with National Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle in Columbus.

FFA Boys End War on Rural Pests

The winning side—the Washington C. H. chapter—with its 32-423 points, will get a free meal and some entertainment from the Jeffersonville team, which scored 20,444 points. That was a part of the agreement.

The real winner in the battle, however, is the farmer. The kill will represent savings of thousands of dollars for him.

The following number of pests were killed: sparrows, 962; starlings, 200; mice, 186; pigeons, 416; rats, 254; crows, 961; weasel, fox and mole, one each.

Losers To Throw Supper

Members of the Jeffersonville chapter will carry out their share of the bargain February 21, when they will throw a potluck supper, present the movie "Treasure Island," which shows how pineapples are harvested, and offer other entertainment. The show will be presented at the Jeffersonville High School.

To spur the Washington C. H. chapter on to its victory Gordon Ryder instructor, split the chapter into two teams and had a competition within his own organization.

A team of freshmen and sophomores defeated a team of juniors and seniors. The winners in this case will be feted and entertained by the losers January 17 at the next regular meeting of the WHS F. F. A. chapter at the high school.

The instructor of the Jeffersonville High School vocational agricultural class is Lester Gieger.

Will Install Officers of Many Granges

Noted Degree Staff From Ohio State To Be In Charge

Plans are being completed for the installation of all officers of the granges in Fayette county, including the Pomona, subordinate and juvenile granges, together with officers of the granges of Highland county.

The installation will take place at Memorial Hall here January 13, at 8 P. M., and will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6:30 P. M., to which all grange members have been invited. They are being asked to take some item of food together with table service.

The installation ceremony will be performed by a group from the University Grange in Columbus. This team is appearing in a number of countries throughout Ohio.

The team is directed by Prof. T. G. Watson secretary of the OSU College of Agriculture.

In addition to his work on the campus, Watson also coaches the sixth degree of the Ohio State Grange and the Seventh degree of the national grange.

Prof. Watson returned recently from Sacramento, Cal., where the last session of the National Grange was held.

Grangers of both Fayette and Highland counties are looking forward to the event with a great deal of interest.

Business Session Held By Atomic Farmers
A short business session was held at the meeting of the Young Atomic Farmers 4-H Club, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rife on Saturday.

The group members were guests of Nancy and Pettus Rife. Games were played after the business session, with Donald Rife taking moving pictures of the group.

Cupcakes and cocoa were served to club members, including Donna Lou Rife, Ralph Coil, Junior Knedler, Bobby Rife, Dale Coil, Joyce Theobald, Mike Wagner, Herbert Coil and Pettus and Nancy Rife and Julie Pavey.

Mrs. Donald Rife and Irel Knedler were also present, said reporter Julie Pavey.

PTA "Men's Night" Postponed to Jan. 17
The Thursday meeting of the Marion School PTA has been postponed to Tuesday, January 17.

The meeting next Tuesday will be turned over to the men in a special "Men's Night," with the males carrying the responsibility of arranging the program and providing the entertainment.

The men's cuisine will also meet a test in brewing the coffee. The ladies will be the guests for the evening.

New Well Sunk By Water Co.

Thick Layer of Gravel Penetrated

During the past week the Ohio Drilling Co., which last year drilled a dozen test holes on property of the Ohio Water Service Co., in search of more water, has put down a 20-inch well on the company's grounds immediately west of the North Shore addition near Paint Creek.

The test last year showed a heavy flow of water at the point where the well has just been completed.

The well was sunk 50 feet to bedrock thirty feet of the distance is in gravel.

Pumping tests will be made to determine the peak flow of the new well by O. D. Farquhar, manager of the water service office stated.

Two or three other wells of similar size will be put down at various points where tests last year showed a great deal of water at comparatively shallow depth, it was stated.

Within a short time the capacity of the new well will be known. It is hoped by officials that the well will add greatly to the present water supply available for Washington C. H. users.

STRIKE AIM OBSCURE
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10—(AP)—More than 50,000 soft coal miners are on strike today. Many of them don't know why.

Industry spokesmen say the walkout effort by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis to needle mine operators into signing a contract.

The strike began yesterday morning. UMW officials denied action was ordered by union headquarters. By nightfall scores of mines were empty in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama, Virginia, Ohio and Utah.

Some miners—those who were willing to talk with outsiders about it—said the strike was decided on at meetings of their UMW Locals.

Other miners said their Locals held no meetings; they're just staying away from the mines because "that's the healthy thing to do when there's a strike on."

It's not a nationwide strike. The diggers are only about one-eighth of the 400,000 men employed in the bituminous (soft coal) industry.

PRESSURE ON PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—Twin moves shaped up in Congress today to provide new legal tools for dealing with John L. Lewis.

One was a resolution due to be introduced by Senator Ferguson (R-MICH.) asking President Truman to invoke his emergency powers under the Taft-Hartley Law to end the present three-day coal mining week.

The other was the suggestion by Senator Robertson (D-VA.) that the Senate banking committee sponsor a move to apply the Anti-Trust Laws to labor unions.

Lewis, meanwhile, stuck to his position that mine owners sign on his United Mine Workers' terms. Those are a 95-cent daily wage boost for miners now receiving $14.05 and a 10-cent increase in the present 20-cent tonnage royalty for the miner's welfare fund.

Most of the coal operators have balked at these demands as too costly. Their fight with Lewis over agreeing on a new contract has been getting steadily hotter since the old pact expired last July 1.

Neither President Truman nor Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, showed any signs of acting on separate demands that they seek court injunctions to force miners back on a five-day week.

Grain Market
CHICAGO, Jan. 10—(AP)—Flourries of buying lifted grain prices at the Board of Trade today. The start was shaky, with only corn showing some firmness, but short covering in other pits started a slow rise.

Some of the buying in wheat was attributed to prospects of damage to winter wheat by cold weather where is lack of snow covering. There were also floor reports of prospective flour buying by the production and marketing administration.

Traders also had word that 3,000 tons of soybeans have been earmarked for Japan and that the government would be in the market for a sizeable amount of lard for shipment to Austria.

With some heavy weather developing over the corn belt looking on a to-arrive basis were placed at 30,000 bushels.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—His reference to God and his optimism about the American future stand out repeatedly in President Truman's statements.

As the years tick off, Communism has been spreading. Now about one-third of the earth's people live under it. It will continue to push where and when it can.

As it marches, this country spends large sums trying to keep it from spreading, or spreading faster. Balked in the west, at least temporarily, Communism has made fantastic gains in the east.

No prophet can say where all this will end; in collapse for the western or Communist world, or in world peace. But Mr. Truman seems confident the U. S. will come through grandly.

He doesn't ignore what's happening or what the hazards are. But he forecasts a tremendous future for the U. S. if—

He puts the "if" in his talks about the future. He points out what this country has accomplished and can accomplish—if the people of the U. S. work together for the future good of all of them.

It seems clear in what he says that the U. S. can, and will, surmount its obstacles and move into a golden era. But God has a prominent place in the rosy pictures Mr. Truman paints.

For instance, look at the State of the Union message he delivered in person to Congress last Wednesday. After a few preliminaries, he said:

"Today, by the grace of God, we stand a free and prosperous nation with greater possibilities for the future than any people have ever had in the history of the world. . . .

"We work for a better life for all, so that all men may put to good use the great gifts which they have been endowed by their creator. We seek to establish those material conditions of life in which, without exception, men may live in dignity, perform useful work, serve their communities, and worship God as they see fit. . . .

"As we approach the halfway mark in the 20th century we should ask for continued strength and guidance from that almighty power who has placed before us such great opportunities for the good of mankind in the years to come."

It was in the speech that the president looked forward to a trillion-dollar production in this country by the year 2,000.

In his economic report of Congress last Friday, again the president painted a glowing picture of future America—if all parts of the economy work sensibly.

In his speech at St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3, he said Americans have a "new world" before them.

In talk at Arlington Cemetery Dec. 21, he said: "If man could achieve self government and kinship with his God throughout the world, peace would not tremble. . . ." He said American democracy is an "expression of faith in the spirit of man, a declaration of faith in man as created by God."

His Christmas message, of course, was filled with references to God.

Two-Way Radio Praised Here By Officials

Sheriff and Police Find it Valuable Aid in Work

After 18 months operation here, the two-way radio installed for use by the city and county, has proven its worth scores of times, officials here report.

The police and sheriff radio station here, installed and maintained by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., is located at police headquarters in the city building.

It is known at Station WRYE, and is connected with the police cruisers, sheriff's office and sheriff's cars, so that messages may be sent from the station or cars. As a result, the officers in the cruisers are always in touch with the station.

All that user need to do to operate the radio is to lift the receiver and give the proper signal. The answer comes back immediately from station or cruiser.

Each night as the cruiser makes various points in the city, contact is maintained with station, where a careful record of every call is kept together with the time.

In a single night as many as 60 reports are made, so that there is never any question as to what points have been checked.

Speeds Up Enforcement

If a call comes in to the station reporting a crime that has been committed or is being committed in any part of the city, the night desk man calls the officers in the cruiser. It sometimes happens that the cruiser is near the point from which the call comes and can be at the scene in remarkably short time.

Wherever the cruiser is located it goes immediately to the point

By being in touch with the sheriff's office and cruisers the two sets of officers can work together at all times, even if the sheriff's car is in some remote part of the county.

"We could not get along without it," said Chief Long in praising the radio and the great assistance it gives speeding up law enforcement in Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

Many Fayette People Visit State Parks

Number of Visitors Triples in Some Cases During '49

During the past year several hundred Fayette Countians were among 1,902,362 persons who visited the Ohio State Museum at Columbus, or one or more of the 54 state memorials or parks scattered throughout Ohio, which are operated under direction of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The number of visitors at the museum and park reached an all-time high during 1949.

Of the 1,902,362 visitors at the museum and parks, 92,977 visited

Ohio State Museum on the OSU campus.

One of the groups visiting the State Museum one Sunday last summer was sponsored by the Fayette County Historical Society.

Some of the state parks most visited by Fayette Countians were Fort Ancient, Fort Hill, Serpent Mound, Seip Mound, and the several state parks amid the Hocking County hills, such as Old Man's Cave, Ash Cave, Rock House and Cantwell Cliffs.

Visitors On Increase

Ranking high among state memorials are Schoenbrunn in Tuscarawas County with 160,074 visitors; Newark Earthworks in Licking County with 184,029; and Fort Ancient in Warren County with 200,029.

Compared with 1948, the Greenville property in Darke County has more than tripled its attendance, and about twice as many visitors have registered at Zoar in Tuscarawas County.

Erwin C. Zepp, director of the State Archaeological and Historical Society, attributes the increase to two factors: the wide distribution of informational leaflets, and the increase in the number of student groups from all over the state.

Inasmuch as the museum and parks are maintained by the state through the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society, there is no admission charge. Picnic facilities are found at all of the parks.

Tax Expert Back In County Monday

Ferd Becker of the county affairs department of the Ohio Department of Taxation, was back in the county Monday going over reappraisal figures here in connection with an inquiry into valuations of real estate which he started last week.

His work has been taking him into both city and county. He is being assisted by Edwin Ducey, also of the state tax department.

Planning Ahead For Our City and County

Although Fayette County has been moving forward with reasonable consistency and the people of this community can look backward over the past several years with pride in progress, there are some problems ahead which should have a lot of thought and planning.

There are opportunities for even greater progress and wholesome growth ahead. Washington C. H. and Fayette County have the potential assets for such growth. However we need the kind of thinking and the kind of action here that will see to it that mere physical growth shall not outstrip the type of healthy growth that makes this city and this county very desirable places in which to live.

This year will see the completion of the new hospital and the improvement of Washington Park with its new swimming pool. These assets are now practically within our grasp.

We have had a number of minor improvements made in the city of Washington C. H., certainly about all that could be done on streets, sewers, sidewalks and alleys with such finances as were available for our city. In this field of improvement however there is still much to be done.

Washington C. H. must face its parking problem realistically. We must do something besides merely criticizing and saying "why don't they" do something about this? We, all of us citizens, are the "they" that should be interested enough to help work on suggestions, meet with the city council, talk with others who may have good ideas and out of all this something can and will be done.

That is true not only of the parking problem but also other things that are confronting us.

Washington C. H. faces a great need for something to be done about a storm sewer system. Nearly every year here we have trouble two or three times through inability of the present sewer system to meet demands in acting both as a sanitary and a storm water sewer. We can't do this job well by piecemeal. It will take planning and will cost money. How willing are we to face that prospect?

Another matter which will need a lot of thought is our school needs. Some expansion of school facilities is necessary. A survey now in progress soon may tell us how much. This will require a bond issue to carry out whatever solution is found necessary, if we are to do any looking ahead.

All this brings up the matter of the need for some master-plan for future city improvements. Other cities, some no larger than Washington C. H., have recognized this and arranged for such overall plans for years ahead. Present and future building, streets and other improvements are being worked out in those places to follow the general idea of such a plan. The same thing could be done here. Whether through local planners or with outside experienced help, a start must be made.

Before long some one or some group has to make a beginning along this line. Maybe it can start with our city manager and city council. They know and realize desirability and benefits of all this. They will welcome help and suggestions. The Chamber of Commerce could be a help.

If some group or several organizations do start on such a move we sincerely hope that the average citizen will lend his support to the idea and at least will attempt to know what he is talking about before he starts to ridicule or criticize suggestions advanced.

Perils of Civilizations

Eskimos rate a tip of the parka. A famed Canadian optometrist reports, following a government medical mission to the Arctic, that but few needed his attention and that the only blemishes on their civilization had been left by visitors from "civilized" countries who passed through their land on military assignment in the war.

The Tree that Grew in Brooklyn

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—You've heard that a tree grows in Brooklyn. But did you ever stop to think what would happen if you didn't want a tree to grow anymore in Brooklyn? Harkens, then, to this tale of a landlord's woe:

He owns a house in Brooklyn with a towering popular tree in the front yard, a tree sturdy at the base but balding at the top.

Most trees attacked households in only one way—the roots creep into the basement and try to throttle the furnace. But this popular tree attacked from top to bottom. Its powerful roots kept breaking into the cellar, and its crown shed decaying branches on the heads of passersby.

"Somebody's going to sue me if I don't get rid of that tree," the landlord decided.

But how do you get rid of a tree in Brooklyn? It was too tall to be axed by an amateur. Well, naturally, in this day and age, when you get a problem too big for personal handling you turn to the government. But which government? The only thing this landlord hated worse than tenants was governments. He thought all tenants paid too little rent and all governments asked too much in taxes.

Although his tree grew in New York state, which is part of the United States, the landlord decided that both Governor Dewey and President Truman would deny that its removal was either a state or federal responsibility. No use to ask them.

But how about Mayor O'Dwyer? He was the guy! Brooklyn was his bailiwick.

So the landlord, who is a Republican, swallowed his pride and asked his tenants, who are Democrats, if they wouldn't ask the city administration, as a favor to them, to please come and take away the tree.

Weeks passed. And then came a letter from the health department. The landlord's glad smile changed to a frown when he read it. It was a summons, and it said in effect:

"Your tree is hereby and to wit declared a community menace. YOU get rid of it."

"That's government for you!" muttered the landlord. He hired a crew of men to take down the tree. Then he checked, and found they had no insurance against being crushed by a falling tree. Then checked his own insurance. He found that if the tree blew down in a hurricane, wrecked his house and killed his tenants, the insurance company would pay up to $40,000. But if he hired somebody to remove the tree and it toppled on the house and killed the tenants—he would have to pay all damages himself.

Well, finally, the landlord went to a professional tree removal firm. They said they would cut down and take away his tree for a mere $400.

"I could get a couple of beavers to know it down for the bark," he barked.

"Go ahead," they said. "We're not trying to drive beavers out of business."

The upshot of the matter is the landlord will have to pay $400 to get rid of his popular tree. And he still is wondering what his tenants really asked the health department to do.

The moral of this tale is that if you buy a house in Brooklyn with a tree in the yard, be sure it is a young tree. And chop it down quick!

Russian Version of Life in U. S.

By George E. Sokolsky

The seventieth birthday of the genius of the universe thundered down the corridors of history and it was even heard in New York. The Bourgeois Press, owned by private enterprise, as much as they would like to deceive their readers by saying that there is no J. Stalin and he never existed, printed columns of details about our Koba and even pictures of him, in childhood, in youth, as a Soviet hero sitting on a chair at Yalta with Roosevelt who looked sick.

At the same time they celebrated Christmas which is a Christological development of Sol Vincus. Therefore, the articles about J. Stalin disappeared and they began publishing about Albert Einstein, who writes about science in language which no one understands but it turns out to be correct. This is another capitalist contradiction.

This Albert Einstein is captive in Princeton, New Jersey, where also is situated a university. He sits there and calculates. His present calculation took him 30 years. In the Soviet Union such calculations take no longer than half as long. In fact, after we find out what it is that Einstein calculated and how to read it, we shall prove that he has, in fact, done nothing new, that in 1467, Ivanovitch of Tsaritsin found the same thing and even better. Only the Slavs being a modest people forgot to tell anyone about it. Our records are full of such modesty.

So now they celebrate here the new year, C'Novum Godum! When people are at liberty to get drunk. In New York, where I now find myself, there are many night clubs. These places are very small. Yet they have large bands, floor shows and serve dinners and liquors. Also some people drink the liquors without dinners and suppers.

The most famous night club is called "The Stork" which is a bird that in Teutonic mythology delivers about-to-be-born children to pregnant mothers. This is an opiate to confuse children into believing that they are not a process of the estrous cycle but of God's love. This is a contradiction of the environmentalist doctrine of Michurin and is therefore wrong, as J. Stalin and the late A. Zhdanov established. Anyhow, The Stork is a small place but it is always crowded because, in such a bourgeois country like this, people go where they can't get in. Do they go to walk in the snow? No! There is no snow. Do they celebrate the New Year under the stars? No! There are no stars because the heavens are alight at night with millions of Neon signs which advertise private enterprise and corrupt the proletariat by telling them to buy what they don't need but which they like. Corrupted, they buy it.

So, they go to The Stork and other places and dance. But this is not dancing. Like everything else in this country, dancing is a contradiction. By us in the Soviet Union, when people want to dance, they give a jump in the air. They throw out their legs; they move their arms. Their bodies sing. Here the young man takes the girl in his arms; they hold hands tightly, and wiggle. The slower the rhythm, the more intense the wiggle. They do not smile but look serious like a Titoist caught in his savage plots against J. Stalin.

Then they blow whistles. When it is midnight, they have a Bacchanalia, shrieking, blowing whistles, swinging rattles, and kissing. They drink champagne imported from France with Marshall Plan dollars. They drink enough champagne to win the next election in France.

Then they sing a Scotch song called "Auld Lang Syne." Anyhow, it could be written originally by the great poet, J. Stalin. In order to study this queer country, I acted like a native with all the trimmings and returned to my lodgings early in the morning after eating scrambled eggs and salami at Lindy's where the salami is made Rumanian fashion.

Well, C'Novum Godum which, in the custom of these people, is translated, "here's looking at you!" what a contradiction!

Migraine Headache Treatment Found

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE victim of migraine headache is subject to severe attacks of pain which come on at varying intervals.

Thus, the treatment of migraine is twofold. It aims first at relieving the headache when it occurs, but is chiefly concerned with prevention of the attacks altogether or at least a reduction in their number and severity.

One Side of Head

It would appear that these headaches which usually affect only one side of the head, often occur because the arteries in the brain contract. One substance, which has been found useful in treating attacks and helping to prevent them, is known as ergotamine tartrate. It is best given by injection into a muscle as early as possible after the first sign of pain has appeared. It is suggested that the patient be taught to give these injections to himself so that he may get the preparation during the first half hour of the headache.

Another method of treatment is the use of tablets of this preparation which are put under the tongue and allowed to dissolve.

In about 8 out of 10 cases, the ergotamine relieves the headache in about an hour.

One of the barbiturates which are drugs used to quiet the nervous system may also be taken by mouth to aid in rest and relaxation.

Government to Study Tax Dodging Racket

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—The government has launched an intensive study to learn how many billions of dollars it is losing each year to tax dodgers.

As an official disclosed today, a check of government statistics show that almost $50,000,000,000 of estimated personal income fails to appear in annual income tax files. That is almost one-fourth of all personal income.

100 Farmers At Farm Bureau's Fertilizer Meet

Two Officials From Ohio Association Are Main Speakers

Some 100 farmers from Fayette County got some new slants on factors to be taken in consideration when purchasing fertilizer from two officials of the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, at a dinner meeting, held Monday night at the Washington Country Club.

Harry Cook, agronomist of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, pointed out the need for figuring production costs on the basis of cost per unit (such as a bushel of corn) rather than on the basis of cost per acre.

Hugh Boyd, a representative of the fertilizer division of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, warned farmers of false and misleading claims concerning certain types of fertilizer ingredients.

Cook emphasized the importance of farmers figuring how many bushels of corn fertilizer will help them produce and at what cost per bushel rather than what the cost per acre will be for them to apply a certain amount of fertilizer.

Boyd urged the farmers to avoid paying high prices of fertilizer with minor elements in it. If the land needs minor elements, he said they should be purchased separately and applied as recommended by the county agent.

The speaker said that strikes in the potash mines have seriously threatened the fertilizer industry.

Verne Wilson, president of the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, opened the meeting by introducing W. W. Montgomery, county agent, who served as chairman of the meeting.

Montgomery introduced Harry Silcott, of the production and marketing association, Justin Owens and Frank Sollars, both of the soil conservation district, Chester Jones, county Grange deputy, and Howard Hopkins, president of the Fayette County Farm Bureau.

Officers Chosen By Banking Firm

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Milledgeville Bank of Jeffersonville, held Monday afternoon, Dr. H. Allen was named director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Oliver S. Nelson, who resigned last fall because of ill health.

Other directors of the bank are, A. E. Ervin, Frank E. Hidy, Ray R. Maddox, Warren W. Williams, Forrest Smith, and Mrs. O. B. Ropp.

In the reorganization, Ervin was re-elected president and Hidy vice president.

Mrs. Mildred Fent was again chosen cashier of the institution. Officers reported that the bank had a good business throughout the year.

Hobby Club Meeting Friday at 6:30 P. M.

Rev. Lewis B. Rogers, president of the Fayette County Hobby Club, said Monday that the regular monthly session of the club will be held Friday at 6:30 P. M., opening with a covered dish supper.

Election of officers is scheduled at the business session, and following the business meeting the usual display of articles and their history will take place, as well as sale and exchange of other articles brought by members of the club.

"Crop Marketing" Topic at Meeting

The outlook for pork production during 1950 was discussed at the January meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Frazier.

Mrs. Frazier spoke on the topic, "Marketing Our Ohio Crops." She told the group that farmers receive 49% of the consumer's dollar today. It is predicted that this would be lowered 15% in 1950, she added.

Consequently, explained Mrs. Herschel, efficient marketing is as important as efficient production.

Since the typical farm has assets amounting to about $35,000, the farmer has a right to expect as fair a return in his investment as other businesses, she continued.

It was felt that a cooperative packing plant to process the animals sold, in addition to better advertising of Farm Bureau products, would help solve the problem.

Prior to the discussion of pork production, Lowell Kaufman conducted the evening's business.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Frazier during the social hour.

Logan Elm Badly Damaged By Ice

During the sleet storm last week the famous Logan Elm, Pickaway County, was badly damaged by ice, which broke off four major branches, so that the general appearance of the tree was greatly changed.

Most of the damage was done to the north and west side of the tree. Already limb repairs have been made, insofar as possible, by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The lower limbs remain intact. Only the upper limbs were broken.

Work on Pipeline Is Moving Slowly

A great deal of rainy weather, which has occurred since work of completing the 33 miles of 26-inch Texas Eastern gas pipeline was started in December, has greatly retarded the work.

Only some 14 miles of the line has been completed, from a point near Milledgeville, into Clinton County.

Several days during the heavy rains recently work was virtually at a standstill.

Pipe sufficient to lay 23 miles of the 33 was on hands before work of laying the pipe was started. Just when the additional 10 miles of pipe will be received and laid is still problematical.

Most of the workmen are now residing in Wilmington and other points. One of the offices, that of the inspection department, still remains at the Hotel Washington here.

Appleman-Bandy Wedding Performed In Johnstown

Miss Mary Louise Appleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Appleman of Johnstown, became the bride of Mr. Calvin C. Bandy, of Columbus, son of Mrs. Lena Bandy of this city, on Sunday January 8 in the Johnstown Methodist Church.

Rev. Walter Kreitz, pastor of the church read the double ring ceremony as the hands of the clock approached three in the afternoon before an altar lighted with candles in seven branch candelabra and a background of palms and baskets of white mums and gladioli.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Marjorie Montgomery of Johnstown presented a half hour of organ music and included in her numbers, "I Love You Truly", "Because", "Always" and "Ah Sweet Mystery Of Life". She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Milton G. Brown of Columbus, was matron of honor, for the bride, and Misses Ruth and Susan Appleman sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Mr. Kenneth Bandy of this city was best man for the groom and ushers were Mr. Charles Gibeau of Bloomingburg, and Mr. Earl Rohde of Columbus. The brunette bride given in marriage by her father wore a white satin wedding gown, fashioned with a basque bodice buttoned down the back, sheer marquisette yoke, edged with a double row of Chantilly with seed pearl trim in orange blossom design. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands and the full skirt terminated in a graceful train.

Her full length veil of illusion was held in place by a braided coronet of illusion studded with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a single orchid and white satin streamers. The bride's mother chose for the occasion a beige print dress, with brown accessories and the groom's mother wore a grey dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations. A reception was held in the church following the ceremony and the bride's table white cloth covered, was centered with a three tiered cake topped with a bride and groom. When the couple left on their honeymoon in Cleveland, the bride had changed to a beige wool sharkskin suit with brown accessories, a white top coat, with the orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder. Upon their return they will reside at 137 Wheatland Avenue, Columbus. The bride is a graduate of Monroe High School, Johnstown, and Bliss Business College, Columbus, and is employed as a stenographer at the American Jersey Cattle Club in Columbus. The groom is a graduate of Fairfield High School, Legsberg, and Bliss Business College, is associated with the Universal Carloading Company. Guests from here attending the wedding were Mrs. Lena Bandy, daughters Virginia and Ruth, sons, Kenneth and Donald, Misses Joyce and Peggy Bandy, Mr. and Mrs. George Sheley, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burton, daughters, Ruth, Brenda and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bandy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer, son, Byron, Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas Jr., Mrs. Henrietta Ellis son Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Aran Ellis, son, Dane, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crone, daughter, Joyce, Mrs. Harry Sheley and daughter, Linda.

Students at WHS Prepare for Exams

Students at Washington C. H. High School can breathe a little easier when examinations roll around this year. The reason is that two half days have been added to the two full days ordinarily set aside for the exams.

Arthur Wohlers, principal, announced that the examinations will start January 17 and last through January 20. Tuesday, Jan. 17, and Friday, Jan. 20, will be half days while Wednesday and Thursday of the week will be full days.

Wohlers said the schedule was set up so that the examinations would not all be concentrated in two days, a practice in the past.

The students won't get a vacation between semesters. They report back at school the following Monday, Jan. 23 for the second semester.

Platoon System To Be Used By Lion Cagers, Coach Says

The WHS Lions will use the platoon system in basketball. The startling change in the tactics of the Blue Lions was announced today by Coach Steve Lewis.

Lewis announced the radical change after the Lions failed to click against Greenfield McClain dropping a 48-36 ball game in their seventh loss of the season.

Two platoons will be utilized by Lewis in this sudden change of strategy to pep up the play of the Lions. One platoon will start the game and play the entire first half, with the second platoon coming on in the third quarter.

Platoons Named

The first-half platoon will consist of Jordan and Sheldier at forward, Shelton and Pope at the guardposts, with Neff jumping at center. Brandenburg will be the utility man held in relief for this platoon.

The second-half platoon will be made up of Robinette and Archer at forward, Blair and Alkire at guard and Barry Smith at center. Ed Pensyl will be the relief man for the last-half platoon.

The Lions' new platoon system will have a completely fresh team beginning each half. The Lions' initial practice this week is being held Tuesday afternoon.

Fraternal League Competition Keen

Competition was hot and heavy in Monday night's Fraternal League bowling at Bowland. Not one of the winners was able to turn in a clean sweep.

The high team total was turned in by the Lions as they piled up 2577 (without handicap) to win the first and last games from the boys from Mt. Sterling.

The big battle developed between the Elks and the Country Clubbers. With a total of 2552, the Elks won the last two games after dropping the opener. Gib Bireley was high for the winners with 544 and Fred Pierson set the pace for the losers with 522.

The Record-Herald crew and the Rotarians each won the first and last games. The Record-Herald turned back the Universals and the Rotarians, who tallied a fat 2523 with the help of Paul Pennington's 555 and Bill Himmelspach's 539, bested the Sabina Moose.

Two Clean Sweeps In Ladies League

Two clean sweeps marked the Ladies League bowling at Bowland, Monday night. One of them was registered by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home quintet and the other by the Loudner girls.

The Montgomery Ward team won the first and last games of their match with the Morris Store girls with a three-game total of 1911 (without handicap).

A total of 1767 (without handicap) gave the Candymakers a two-out-of-three victory over the NCR team.

WHS Cubs Shape Up For McClain Battle

The WHS Cubs worked out hard at the high school gym Monday night in preparation for the approaching clash with Greenfield Junior High this Wednesday at 4 P. M.

Coach Fred Pierson put his boys through a fast session to sharpen up their layups and fast-breaking attack.

The Cubs also spent time on their set shots, so should be equipped to meet McClain with an all-round offense.

Home-Court Advantage
In addition, the team playing on its home court usually has the slight edge that comes with familiarity with the spring of the backboard and hoops, so the Cubs will enter with that advantage.

The WHS junior high quintet sports a 1-1 record for the season, having beaten Wilmington, 27-17, in the season opener and then falling before Sabina last week by 30 to 25.

Probable Line-up
When asked which boys were going to play, Pierson replied: "All of them." But he announced a probable starting line-up of Milstead, Parks, Whitley, Dawson and Lewis.

Pierson emphasized that each member of the squad will be seeing action, however.

The Calumet two-year-old, Fenfare, is a dead-ringer for his older half-brother, Coaltown, and is considered the leading prospect among Warren Wright's "baby" racers.

Some 10,000,000 gallons of frozen concentrated orange juice were produced in the 1949 season.

Randall Race Track Purchase Sought

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10 —(P)— Ben and Herman Cohen of Baltimore make another attempt today to purchase a million dollar deal for the purchase of Randall Park Race Track here.

Negotiation on price terms were stalled at a meeting yesterday with Randall owners, Sam Lombardo and John Masoni. The four meet again this afternoon.

Hogan Close To Victory in His Comeback

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10—(P)— Ben Hogan, the erstwhile cripple, may be within a couple of short puts today of his greatest triumph.

If he makes it, a lot of fans will call it the No. 1 comeback of all time.

But if little Jerry Barber is his victim, that rainstorm Sunday may prove the costliest of his or any other golf pro's career.

The field takes off in the final round of the $15,000 Los Angeles Open, the tendency is to assume that Hogan will win it. He's come back so far now from that Texas highway crash that nothing seems impossible.

But he, and his loudly loyal gallery, may be reckoning without a craftsman almost as cool as Bahtman Ben himself. Barber, the 140-pound golf glove salesman from Pasadena, put a one-over-par 72 with his previous 69-68 yesterday to take a two-stroke lead in the tourney at 209. Hogan, who was tied for 16th after the first round, carded his second successive 69 to wind up only two strokes back.

Harness race horses competed for nearly $11,000,000 in purses in 1949, an increase of more than $500,000 over the previous year.

The standings are determined

How To Help Your "Scratching" Dog
Does your dog constantly scratch, dig, rub, and bite himself—often until his skin is raw and sore? He may be perfectly clean and flea free, but suffering from an intense itching irritation that has entered in the nerve endings of his skin. He is in torment and can't help scratching—unless you try to help him. Try giving him Rex Hunters Dog Powders, once each week, and note the quick improvement.

One owner writes: "If my dog could talk I know he would say thanks for Rex Hunters Dog Powders. He was raw and sore from scratching and just lay around. Now he plays and is full of pep." Ask for Rex Hunters Dog Powders at any good drug store, pet or sport shop. Only 30c (Large box only $1.00).

Important: Continued diarrhea—rectal itching. When your dog shows such symptoms, suspect Worms. Rex Hunters Dependable Worm Capsules give immediate results.

Frank Erwin Is Rated Top Race Driver

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)— Frank Erwin of Aiken, S. C., topped the 3270 drivers governed by the U. S. Trotting Association in money won last year with $192,006.

The Columbus Dispatch listed Clint Hodgins of Clandia Boy, Ont., second with $183,507 and Ralph Baldwin of Aurora, Ill., third with $146,027.

Hodgins, said the newspaper, also copped the most victories—128.

Gabe Cartnal of Hanover, O., topped the nation in percentage of victories with .666, ahead of W. E. Weller of Washington, D. C., .629, and Art Shaw of Elkhorn, Wis., .613.

Cartnal won this honor last year too. The standings are determined

is the word for quality

NEW "HUSHED" V-8
Yes, you can even hear Ford's quality. You hear the new quiet of Ford's tough and ready V-8, the only "eight" in the low-price field. It's the type of engine you find in America's costliest cars...yet Ford makes this 8-cylinder powerhouse available to you at hundreds less than you'd pay for most "sixes."

NEW "HUSHED" RIDE
Sound-conditioning all around, plus Ford's "Life-guard" Body (now 13-ways stronger) make the '50 Ford so silent, you can talk in whispers. Add Ford's quiet to Ford's quality "feel" and you'll see why Ford's the one fine car in its field.

Fair Directors Plan To Take in State Meeting

State Association
Convention To Be Held This Week

Fayette County's annual fair directors today were cleaning up their personal affairs so they could take Wednesday and Thursday off to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers Association in Columbus.

All 13 of the board members were planning to take in at least some of the panel discussions and the big banquet which always climaxes the affair the night of the last day.

Some of the directors said they would be accompanied by their wives. Special entertainment features are usually provided for them.

Most of the directors are planning to come back home after the afternoon and evening sessions, but a few have made hotel reservations to take in the full two-day program without interruption.

Two New Members

Two members of the Fayette County board will be going to the state meeting for the first time. Preston Dray was chosen for one of the directors at the regular annual election of the county's Agricultural Society at last summer's fair, and John Sagar was appointed at the board's last meeting to fill the place of T. Harold Craig, who resigned. Dray took the place of Baldwin Rice, who was not a candidate for reelection.

Although the future of the fairground is now tied up in a legal action the board is going right ahead making plans for next summer's event.

The Agricultural Society has gone to court with its plan to acquire the tract where the fair has been held here for half a century.

It is at the annual state fair managers association convention that the directors book many special entertainment attractions for the fair. Concessionaires and showmen always are there ready to talk business and show what they have.

Ideas Exchanged

The exchange of ideas on staging a fair also are considered important. More than 1,100 fair directors from all over the state are expected at the meeting.

One of the important sessions is expected to be that which the harness racing programs are discussed. Fayette County will be represented by George A. Steen, chairman of the speed committee, Frank E. Ellis and G. Damon Baker.

Ellis, the secretary of the board here, is to preside at a joint meeting of the Ohio fair secretaries and concessionaires Wednesday afternoon.

Of general interest will be the panel discussion on the importance of advertising and promotion of a county fair.

Robert E. Minshall of Washington C. H., the secretary-treasurer of R. B. Howard & Associates, Columbus public relations consultants, is to serve as moderator. Among the participants will be a native of Washington C. H., R. Kenneth Kerr, publisher of the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette and vice president of the Ohio Newspaper Publishers Association. Others taking part in the discussions are to be Earl McMunn of the Ohio Farmer representing the farm press, and Bob Miller of station WRFD, representing the farm radio.

The sessions are to be held in the Desher-Wallick Hotel.

Carolyn Leeth was named president; Thelma Thomas, vice-president; Carol June Wilson, secretary; Janet Wilson, treasurer and Jean Wood, news reporter.

In opening the meeting, the girls answered roll call by naming their favorite Christmas gift. Misses Barbara Allemand and Carolyn Leeth presented reports to the group. A contest was held which Barbara Allemand won.

The girls also made plans at the business session to present merit awards. Jane Whiteside won the favor in a contest and refreshments were served.

Mary Lou Deakne presented the secretary's report and it was announced that the next meeting will be at the home of Marilyn Miller.

THAT OLD FLAME

Give it a new setting! In spite of our madcap pace of living with new interests constantly crowding themselves into our lives, home still is where the hearth is.

You don't need a scale plan to transform the old fashioned fireplace and put your room in that important up-to-the-minute mood. Just paint the bricks and mantel a soft velvety black. (Dull varnish over black enamel will turn this trick.) Then put a wall-high panel of simulated marble wallpaper in black and white above the mantel. Use a mirror—smoked or clear—for this if you prefer. Hang lively vivid-printed drapes from ceiling to floor at each side, and you have made the hearth the decorative center of your room.

Sketched above: two davenport provide ample sprawling space and offer friendly hospitality. Don't worry if you can't find a new davenport that matches the one you have. Plain simple lines will harmonize with anything. Slip-cover your old one for a completely new color scheme in tones that match or blend with the new.

In a small room a pair of love seats fit charmingly. Or pull-up chairs. The plan is flexible.

We have tried to anticipate your needs. Come in, we'd like to talk them over with you.

Rains Renew Midwest Flood Threat; Cold Weather Coming

TELEPHONE LINEMEN repair damaged phone lines near Terre Haute, Indiana, after a severe freezing rain storm caused the lines to break under the weight of ice. The men are forced to work from rowboats in the flood waters of the Wabash River, which is said to be at its highest level in years. More than 4,000 persons have made homeless in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri as floods have broken through levees and inundated the lowlands. Troops and National Guardsmen are patrolling the area. White Men Hunted For Negro Massacre

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Jan. 10—(P)—A critically wounded Negro early today gasped out a story that three white men massacred three members of his family after attempting to rape his 14-year-old step-daughter.

The Negro, Thomas Harris, was shot in the back and lung. 100 white possemens combed central Mississippi for two of the white men. A third was captured yesterday.

District Attorney Henry Rodgers identified the captured man as Malcolm Whitt, 32. He said the two still hunted are Loen Turner, 38-year-old former convict, and Wendell Whitt, Malcolm's 24-year-old brother.

Rodgers said all three had been held in Attala County Jail on charges of attempting to rape the 14-year-old stepdaughter, Pearl-line Thurman. But eleven days ago they escaped, using a beer can opener to dig a hole in a cell wall.

Story of Horror
Rodgers said Harris gave him this statement.

The two Whitts and Turner came to his home last Sunday night.

Turner told Harris he was going to have Harris' stepdaughter "or we're going to kill the whole damn bunch."

He marched into the kitchen while one Whitt stood guard at the front door and the other at the back. Turner shot Harris in the back and then went into the bedroom where he killed three children: Frankie C. Thurman, 10, Mary Burnside, 8, and Ruby Nell Harris, 4. The relationship of the children to Harris was not immediately determined.

The white men were armed with a 22 rifle, another rifle of undetermined caliber, and a .38 caliber pistol.

Rodgers said Pearl-line told him she hopped out of bed and ran to the back door but was turned back by one of the Whitts. She then scammed through the front door and under the house only to be pursued by the other Whitt who told her he would kill her if she did not come out.

Clamor for Economy May Be Just Clamor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(P)—A congressional economy clamor grew louder today around President Truman's $42,000,000, out-of-balance budget.

Nearly all the Senators and house members were saying openly or behind their hands that spending will be too high, the deficit will be too big and they ought to get out the ax and go to work on the budget.

Yet in years past all that talk of economy in January often has turned out to be still just that in June—still just talk. And some lawmakers are aware that this year's economy campaign also could turn out to be more talk than action.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) summed up that point of view: "I had been anticipating a deficit. And it is going to be difficult to pare it any in this election year. We may be able to make some reduction but not to any great extent."

Benefits for Ohio Total $91,896,364

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—A spokesman said today Ohioans got $91,896,364 worth of federal health, education and social welfare benefits last year.

J. K. Johnson of Cleveland, regional director of the Federal Security Agency, reported the total. He said it included payments under the federal old-age and survivors insurance program. Preliminary figures showed that 340,735 Ohioans shared benefits.

Ohio State Band Upsets California

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 10—(P)—Bandmaster Charles C. Cushing believes bands should be composed of musicians, not acrobats.

So he resigned yesterday as director of the University of California band after the school paper editorially roasted the Bears showing at the Rose Bowl game in comparison with the performance of Ohio State's music-makers.

Cushing observed the "initial function of a band to perform music has been superceded." He said he wouldn't turn the marching musicians into a machine of drilling acrobats and bare-legged majorettes.

War Material Loaded in U. S. For Formosa

BULLETIN
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10—(P)—Ninety carloads of tanks and armored cars consigned to the Chinese government at Formosa were loaded aboard a Turkish freighter at a Philadelphia pier today.

Officials of the Reading Company disclosed that the tanks and cars were transported over Reading lines from "somewhere in Ohio" to a pier along the Delaware River in Port Richmond, located in the north-eastern section of Philadelphia.

Loading was begun this morning aboard the 8,077-ton freighter, S. S. Mardin, owned by Marta T. A. S. of Istanbul, Turkey.

Agents for the ship, B. H. Sobelman & Co., Inc., said the ship will depart next week. The agents declined to give detailed information on the consignment, stating an agreement with the Turkish company prohibits release of any news reports to the press.

The foreign freight department of the Reading Company said the ship is consigned to the Chinese government. There was no announcement of individual names ordering the equipment. (The 90 tanks and armored cars were provided by the Lima, O., Ordnance Depot.)

Physician Jailed For Tax Chiseling

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—(P)—Dr. Nevin J. M. Klotz, 45, of Wadsworth, O., who has been charged with filing fraudulent income tax returns, today changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed remained him to jail until time for passing sentence. The government charges the practicing physician filed returns for 1943, 1944 and 1945 which said he had a net income of $25,935 on which $6,923 tax was due. The government claims his net income was $65,111 on which $25,447 was due for the three years.

Farmers Are Real Victors

FFA Boys End War on Rural Pests

Fayette County needs no Pied Piper to rid its barns and rural homes of rats and other destructive pests.

All it takes is a little competitive spirit worked up among its Future Farmers of America chapters.

In this case, the competitors were the members of the Washington C. H. and Jeffersonville high school F. F. A. chapters.

The battle to kill the pests started November 15, less than two months ago. Last week it came to an end. A tabulation of the kill was made.

When all the figures had been added up the two F. F. A. chapters could claim they had ridden the county of 2,782 pests.

Rain, whipped by a strong wind, struck the community again Monday night, and was continuing well into Tuesday. Predictions, however, were for colder temperatures and snow late Tuesday and Wednesday.

The mercury dropped to 51 degrees during the night, two degrees cooler than the afternoon maximum Monday of 53 degrees.

The mercury was still mounting at 8 A. M. Tuesday, when it had reached 56 degrees.

Rainfall during the night totaled .30 of an inch, bringing to 4.52

inches, the total precipitation so far this year.

With continued rain Tuesday, streams which had barely receded within their banks, were expected to rise sharply again.

Monday, the fire department sent its big new truck out removing limbs, broken off in the ice storm last week and still lodged high in trees in the city.

Fire Chief George Hall said the limbs were being removed to prevent them from falling and injuring passers-by. The job was made relatively easy by the big 70-foot extension ladder, a part of the fire truck's equipment.

(By The Associated Press)
An Alaskan-born storm whistled through the peaks of the Siskiyou Mountains in California today, bringing rain, snow and high winds to the coast.

In middle America rescue workers slogged through muck to plug leaking dikes along rampaging rivers.

The blast that hit Northern California was termed a "virtual blizzard."

More rain fell today over parts of the flood-stricken areas of Illinois and Indiana. Rescue crews worked to halt further breaks in levees along rampaging rivers and streams.

Strong winds prevailed throughout most of the flood region, creating a new hazard. Weather bureau officials said the high winds would make "heavy seas" of water in the lowlands. But temperatures were mild, bringing a measure of relief to the hundreds of persons who have been forced to flee from their homes.

Damage to crops and property mounted as waters spilled over thousands of acres of rich farm lands. The critical situation at Vincennes, Ind., appeared somewhat eased as the rain-swollen Wabash River receded slowly during the night. Army engineers, directing sandbagging operations on the weakened levees for two days, expressed the belief the worst of the flood was over.

Meanwhile, a cold wave, with winds up to 50 miles an hour, moved across Montana, the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota. The strong winds whipped snow into huge drifts in some areas of the cold belt. At Willmar, Minn., vis- (Please turn to Page Ten)

Two U. S. Destroyers Now in Danger Spot

By WAYNE RICHARDSON
ABOARD THE FLYING ARROW, Jan. 10—(P)—Two United States destroyers, anchored near this shell-battered freighter late today while a Chinese nationalist gunboat hovered on the horizon.

The destroyers Bausell and Stic-kell steamed here to help patch up the riddled Flying Arrow for whatever is in store for her in the future.

The ship was hit by 30 to 40 national gunboat shells in international waters yesterday. She was about twenty miles off the Chinese mainland when the attack started.

Her master, Capt. David Jones, 31, of Chicago, says the shell hits rendered her unseaworthy. He asked for U. S. Naval escort to the nearest port for repairs.

Legalized Gambling Urged in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(P)—Gambling popped up today as a hot political and moral issue in New York State after Mayor William O'Dwyer's proposal that betting on sports contests be legalized and supervised by the state.

Chances for adoption of the proposal were viewed as dim at the state capital at Albany where several members of the Republican legislative majority voiced opposition.

The Mayor's suggestion, however, gave rise to spirited discussion in many quarters.

Some hailed the suggestion as practical horse sense, in the view of realities. Others condemned state-licensed betting as a threat to the public's morals.

Still others—including the leaders of the sporting world—remained guardedly non-committal on the potentially hot political issue.

Health Insurance Proposed

BY MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(P)—Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) wants to know why you shouldn't buy health insurance much the way you can buy a $50-deductible accident insurance policy for your car.

Brehm, a dentist, said some variation of the plan may be proposed in Congress as an alternative to President Truman's compulsory health insurance program.

As far as he knows, Brehm said, he is the first to propose the idea. He said he discussed it with Dr. Joseph S. Lawrence, president of the American Medical Association, and other doctors some months ago.

"They thought it a novel and promising approach," Brehm told a reporter, "and said it should be studied by insurance experts in an effort to work out some actuarially sound variation of it."

The plan, he said, must be cheap enough for persons in low income brackets to afford, and tight enough so that persons with fancied ills or a desire to "run to the hospital with every little cold" can't exploit it.

He expressed belief such a plan, with voluntary participation, is preferable to the compulsory insurance program the president wants. He said it might be necessary to provide supplemental charity programs for those who can't afford such policies, and to exclude persons in high income brackets.

"In the conversations with Dr. Lawrence," he said, "I suggested that possibly a man might get a low-premium policy that would cover the run-of-the-mine ailments any householder expects through the year, with the privilege of converting it in time of emergency at some nominal premium to cover a major operation or illness."

"There is a popular accident insurance policy which lets you pay a low premium rate as long as you don't file any claims resulting from accidents. If you have a major accident, the insurance company will pay for it if you pay the first $50."

Just A Publicity Stunt

Girl and Her Gambling Horse Have Even Blase Reno Gabbing

RENO, Nev., Jan. 10—(P)—Lucky, the gambling horse, had even this blase town talking today.

And that's exactly what his owner, 24-year-old Susan Wallace, wanted. She admitted it was all a publicity stunt to further her singing career.

Miss Wallace arrived from Hollywood with a $10,000 bankroll, Lucky and a car and trailer.

She found a gambling spot that didn't object to horsey customers. (It's run by a former publicity man.)

The customers made a double take when the white horse first walked in.

Even the croupiers at the roulette wheels admitted it took them a while to get accustomed to a customer wearing horse shoes on his feet.

This is the way Lucky does his playing: He takes a silver dollar in his mouth from Miss Wallace's hand. He moves up and down the table, drops the dollar in a square. For each turn of the wheel he selects three numbers.

Miss Wallace bets on the same numbers. Other customers play their cash on Lucky's horse sense, too.

Miss Wallace said Lucky first learned to gamble shooting dice with the stable boys. He's sticking to roulette here.

The horse's 24-year-old manager said she hopes to get enough money to continue operatic studies—either through Lucky's winnings or through a job from the publicity. She says she does all kinds of singing.

Sunday, she won $300. She was about even last night.

More Doctors Needed..Fewer Being Trained

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10—(P)—The American Conference of Academic Deans yesterday called on schools of medicine to overhaul their training programs to provide more doctors.

A resolution adopted called for a higher priority on training more doctors rather than using facilities for post-graduate training exclusively.

The resolution was adopted after a special committee of the conference of deans declared medical schools should investigate using the wartime accelerated training program as a means of turning out more doctors.

Dean William S. Guthrie of Ohio State University told the deans that fewer doctors are being graduated now than in 1905 and yet the population has doubled. He declared applicants for admission to medical schools have only one chance in 14 of being accepted.

Dean Simeon E. Leland of Northwestern University asserted the medical profession "is the only profession in which the element of competition comes only at the beginning."

He declared medical schools are failing to make full use of their facilities and added:

"We need more and better doctors and if we had more we would have better doctors."

Dean Guthrie asserted that "medicine has an obligation to the public to train more men yet students face strict rationing of careers without respect to the country's needs."

Joke's on Robber; Victim Poor, too

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10—(P)—When a thug pointed a pistol at Mrs. Jane Carey in suburban Merion last night and demanded her money, she just giggled.

"This," said the robber sternly, "is no laughing matter."

"Oh yes it is," replied Mrs. Carey, "because I have only 30 cents in my handbag."

At that point, Mrs. Carey told police later, the thief turned and fled but not before he grumbled:

"Just my luck to nail a dame with no dough."

Business Lost In Strike, Claim

50,000 Miners Idle As Pressure Put On

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—A retail coal firm today sued John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers Union for $20,000 damages under Ohio's old Valentine Anti-Trust Act.

The Davis Coal Company of Dayton filed the action in Franklin County common pleas court. Attorney Philip C. Ebeling of Dayton said it was the first suit by an Ohio retail coal dealer in the current coal mine controversy.

Nine Ohio coal operators last week sued Lewis and the union for $8,872,000 damages and asked an injunction against the three-day mine work week now in force generally.

The Davis Company did not ask an injunction. The company claimed it should have $10,000 damages because Lewis-restricted coal output caused the firm to ration its customers. The Valentine Act permits double damages for injured parties.

Others May Follow

The Davis Company is one of Dayton's three largest coal retailers. It is operated by John S. Davis, Sr., and Jr., under a partnership. The firm is a member of The Dayton and State Coal Retailers Associations.

Ebeling of the Dayton firm of Pickrel, Schaeffer and Ebeling said he did not know whether other retailers plan similar suits.

"I should think they would," Ebeling told newsmen by phone. He said Lewis' limitation of coal production violated the Valentine Act and had hurt the Davis firm's business.

Berea Bank Looted During the Night

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—(P)—Burglars entered the Olmsted Fall branch of the bank of Berea and an adjoining post office during the night and escaped with $4,000, police reported today.

Donald Shier, police chief of the neighboring community, said the thieves were unable to open an inner bank safe, which contained $20,000. It was protected by a time lock.

The bank does not have a watchman. It is protected only by a manually-operated siren on top of the one-story brick structure.

Ohio Farm Output Raised 25 Percent

WOOSTER, Jan. 10—(P)—Ohio farmers on the average raised 25 per cent more crops per acre in the 1940s than they did in the previous 10 years, a farm expert said yesterday.

J. I. Falconer of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station said the wheat harvest increased 16 per cent, corn 26 per cent, and hay 28 per cent.

Better seed, better care of the soil, more favorable weather, and greater use of tractors all helped, he said.

Committee to Study State Governments

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(P)—The Ohio Program Commission's committee to study state governments will include two former governors. They are George White, now a Marietta banker, and Myers Y. Cooper, a Cincinnati real estate broker. The general assembly will receive the committee's report in January, 1951.

Will Install Officers of Many Granges

Noted Degree Staff From Ohio State To Be In Charge

Plans are being completed for the installation of all officers of the granges in Fayette County, including the Pomona, subordinate and juvenile granges, together with officers of the granges of Highland County.

The installation will take place at Memorial Hall here January 13, at 8 P. M., and will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6:30 P. M., to which all grange members have been invited. They are being asked to take some item of food together with table service.

The installation ceremony will be performed by a group from the University Grange in Columbus. This team is appearing in a number of countries throughout Ohio. The team is directed by Prof. T. G. Watson, secretary of the OSU College of Agriculture.

In addition to his work on the campus, Watson also coaches the Sixth degree of the Ohio State Grange and the Seventh degree of the national grange.

Prof. Watson returned recently from Sacramento, Cal., where the last session of the National Grange was held.

Grangers of both Fayette and Highland Counties are looking forward to the event with a great deal of interest.

Business Session Held By Atomic Farmers

A short business session was held at the meeting of the Young Atomic Farmers 4-H Club, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rife on Saturday.

The group members were guests of Nancy and Pettus Rife. Games were played after the business session, with Donald Rife taking moving pictures of the group.

Cupcakes and cocoa were served to club members, including Donna Kneider, Bobby Rife, Dale Knier, Joyce Theobald, Mike Wagner, Herbert Coil and Pettus and Nancy Rife and Julie Pavey.

Mrs. Donald Rife and Irel Kneider were also present, said reporter Julie Pavey.

New Well Sunk By Water Co.

Thick Layer of Gravel Penetrated

During the past week the Ohio Drilling Co., which last year drilled a dozen test holes on property of the Ohio Water Service Co., in search of more water, has put down a 20-inch well on the company's grounds immediately west of the North Shore addition near Paint Creek.

The test last year showed a heavy flow of water at the point where the well has just been completed.

The well was sunk 50 feet to bedrock thirty feet of the distance is in gravel.

Pumping tests will be made to determine the peak flow of the new well by O. D. Farquhar, manager of the water service office.

Two or three other wells of similar size will be put down at various points where tests last year showed a great deal of water at comparatively shallow depth, it was stated.

Within a short time the capacity of the new well will be known. It is hoped by officials that the well will add greatly to the present water supply available for Washington C. H. users.

Ship Off Shanghai

In Bangkok, Thailand (Siam), Vice Adm. Russell S. Berkley, commander of the U. S. seventh task force, said naval craft will protect American merchantmen on the high seas but not inside Chinese territorial waters.

(A second Isbrandtsen line freighter, the Brooklyn Heights, is scheduled to sail for Shanghai tomorrow from Hong Kong. American skippers have been warned by the U. S. state department they may lose their license if they take their ships into blockaded Chinese Communist ports.)

The Flying Arrow made no move to try to leave her anchorage which is still far out in international waters.

ORDERS TO ESCORT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—today that U. S. destroyers have Defense Secretary Johnson said orders (1) to help the steamer Flying Arrow reach any port but Shanghai, and (2) to leave immediately if the vessel proceeds toward Shanghai.

The destroyers Bausell and Sticell are standing by the Isbrandtsen line freighter off the China coast. The Flying Arrow was shelled yesterday by a Chinese nationalist gunboat blockading Communist-held Shanghai.

STRIKE AIM OBSCURE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10—(AP)—More than 50,000 soft coal miners are on strike today. Many of them don't know why.

Industry spokesmen say the walkout effort by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis to needle mine operators into signing a contract.

The strike began yesterday morning. UMW officials denied action was ordered by union headquarters. By nightfall scores of mines were empty in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama, Virginia, Ohio and Utah.

Some miners—those who were willing to talk with outsiders about it—said the strike was decided on at meetings of their UMW Locals.

Other miners said their Locals held no meetings; they're just staying away from the mines because "that's the healthy thing to do when there's a strike on."

It's not a nationwide strike. The diggers are only about one-eighth of the 400,000 men employed in the bituminous (soft coal) industry.

PRESSURE ON PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—Two moves shaped up in Congress today to provide new legal tools for dealing with John L. Lewis.

One was a resolution due to be introduced by Senator Ferguson (R-MICH.) asking President Truman to invoke his emergency powers under the Taft-Hartley Law to end the present three-day coal mining week.

The other was the suggestion by Senator Robertson (D-VA.) that the Senate banking committee sponsor a move to apply the Anti-Trust Laws to labor unions.

Lewis, meanwhile, stuck to his position that mine owners sign on his United Mine Worker's terms. Those are a 95-cent daily wage boost for miners now receiving $14.05 and a 15-cent increase in the present 20-cent tonnage royalty for the miner's welfare fund. Most of the coal operators have balked at these demands as too

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—His reference to God and his optimism about the American future stand out repeatedly in President Truman's statements.

As the years tick off, Communism has been spreading. Now about one-third of the earth's people live under it. It will continue to push where and when it can.

As it marches, this country spends large sums trying to keep it from spreading, or spreading faster. Balked in the west, at least temporarily, Communism has made fantastic gains in the east.

No prophet can say where all this will end; in war, in collapse for the western or Communist world, or in world peace. But Mr. Truman seems confident the U. S. will come through grandly.

He doesn't ignore what's happening or what the hazards are. But he forecasts a tremendous future for the U. S. if—

He puts the "if" in his talks about the future. He points out what this country has accomplished and can accomplish—if the people of the U. S. work together for the future good of all of them. It seems clear in what he says that the U. S. can, and will, surmount its obstacles and move into a golden era. But God has a prominent place in the rosy pictures Mr. Truman paints.

For instance, look at the State of the Union message he delivered in person to Congress last Wednesday. After a few preliminaries, he said:

"Today, by the grace of God, we stand a free and prosperous nation with greater possibilities for the future than any people have ever had in the history of the world."

"We work for a better life for all, so that all men may put to good use the great gifts which they have been endowed by their creator. We seek to establish those material conditions of life in which, without exception, men may live in dignity, perform useful work, serve their communities, and worship God as they see fit."

"As we approach the halfway mark in the 20th century we should ask for continued strength and guidance from that almighty power who has placed before us such great opportunities for the good of mankind in the years to come."

It was in the speech that the president looked forward to a trillion-dollar production in this country by the year 2,000.

In his economic report of Congress last Friday, again the president painted a glowing picture of future America—if all parts of the economy work sensibly.

In his speech at St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3, he said Americans have a "new world" before them.

In talk at Arlington Cemetery Dec. 21, he said: "If man could achieve self government and kinship with his God throughout the world, peace would not tremble..." He said American democracy is an "expression of faith in the spirit of man, a declaration of faith in man as created by God."

His Christmas message, of course, was filled with references to God.

Two-Way Radio Praised Here By Officials

Sheriff and Police Find it Valuable Aid in Work

After 18 months operation here, the two-way radio installed for use by the city and county, has proven its worth scores of times, officials here report.

The police and sheriff radio station here, installed and maintained by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., is located at police headquarters in the city building.

It is known at Station WRYE, and is connected with the police cruisers, sheriff's office and sheriff's cars, so that messages may be sent from the station or cars. As a result, the officers in the cruisers are always in touch with the station.

All that user need to do to operate the radio is to lift the receiver and give the proper signal. The answer comes back immediately from station or cruiser.

Each night as the cruiser makes various points in the city, contact is maintained with station, where a careful record of every call is kept together with the time.

In a single night as many as 60 reports are made, so that there is never any question as to what points have been checked.

Speeds Up Enforcement

If a call comes in to the station reporting a crime that has been committed or is being committed in any part of the city, the night desk man calls the officers in the cruiser. It sometimes happens that the cruiser is near the point from which the call comes and can be at the scene in remarkably short time.

Wherever the cruiser is located it goes immediately to the point

By being in touch with the sheriff's office and cruisers the two sets of officers can work together at all times, even if the sheriff's car is in some remote part of the county.

"We could not get along without it," said Chief Long in praising the radio and the great assistance it gives speeding up law enforcement in Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

Many Fayette People Visit State Parks

Number of Visitors Triples in Some Cases During '49

During the past year several hundred Fayette Countians were among 1,902,362 persons who visited the Ohio State Museum at Columbus, or one or more of the 54 state memorials or parks scattered throughout Ohio, which are operated under direction of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The number of visitors at the museum and park reached an all-time high during 1949.

Of the 1,902,362 visitors at the museum and parks, 92,977 visited

Ohio State Museum on the OSU campus.

One of the groups visiting the State Museum one Sunday last summer was sponsored by the Fayette County Historical Society.

Some of the state parks most visited by Fayette Countians were Fort Ancient, Fort Hill, Serpent Mound, Seip Mound, and the several state parks amid the Hocking County hills, such as Old Man's Cave, Ash Cave, Rock House and Cantwell Cliffs.

Visitors On Increase

Ranking high among state memorials are Schoenbrunn in Tuscarawas County with 160,074 visitors; Newark Earthworks in Licking County with 184,029; and Fort Ancient in Warren County with 200,029.

Compared with 1948, the Greenville property in Darke County has more than tripled its attendance, and about twice as many

Tax Expert Back In County Monday

Erwin C. Zepp, director of the State Archaeological and Historical Society, attributes the increase to two factors: the wide distribution of informational leaflets, and the increase in the number of student groups from all over the state. Inasmuch as the museum and parks are maintained by the state through the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society, there is no admission charge. Picnic facilities are found at all of the parks.

Ferd Becker of the county affairs department of the Ohio Department of Taxation, was back in the county Monday going over re-appraisal figures here in connection with an inquiry into valuations of real estate which he started last week.

His work has been taking him into both city and county. He is being assisted by Edwin Ducey, also of the state tax department.

Planning Ahead For Our City and County

Although Fayette County has been moving forward with reasonable consistency and the people of this community can look backward over the past several years with pride in progress, there are some problems ahead which should have a lot of thought and planning.

There are opportunities for even greater progress and wholesome growth ahead. Washington C. H. and Fayette County have the potential assets for such growth. However we need the kind of thinking and the kind of action here that will see to it that mere physical growth shall not outstrip the type of healthy growth that makes this city and this county very desirable places in which to live.

This year will see the completion of the new hospital and the improvement of Washington Park with its new swimming pool. These assets are now practically within our grasp.

We have had a number of minor improvements made in the city of Washington C. H., certainly about all that could be done on streets, sewers, sidewalks and alleys with such finances as were available for our city. In this field of improvement however there is still much to be done.

Washington C. H. must face its parking problem realistically. We must do something besides merely criticizing and saying "why don't they" do something about this?" We, all of us citizens, are the "they" that should be interested enough to help work on suggestions, meet with the city council, talk with others who may have good ideas and out of all this something can and will be done.

That is true not only of the parking problem but also other things that are confronting us.

Washington C. H. faces a great need for something to be done about a storm sewer system. Nearly every year here we have trouble two or three times through inability of the present sewer system to meet demands in acting both as a sanitary and a storm water sewer. We can't do this job well by piecemeal. It will take planning and will cost money. How willing are we to face that prospect?

Another matter which will need a lot of thought is our school needs. Some expansion of school facilities is necessary. A survey now in progress soon may tell us how much. This will require a bond issue to carry out whatever solution is found necessary, if we are to do any looking ahead.

All this brings up the matter of the need for some master-plan for future city improvements. Other cities, some no larger than Washington C. H., have recognized this and arranged for such overall plans for years ahead. Present and future building, streets and other improvements are being worked out in those places to follow the general idea of such a plan. The same thing could be done here. Whether through local planners or with outside experienced help, a start must be made.

Before long some one or some group has to make a beginning along this line. Maybe it can start with our city manager and city council. They know and realize desirability and benefits of all this. They will welcome help and suggestions. The Chamber of Commerce could be a help.

If some group or several organizations do start on such a move we sincerely hope that the average citizen will lend his support to the idea and at least will attempt to know what he is talking about before he starts to ridicule or criticize suggestions advanced.

Perils of Civilizations

The Tree that Grew in Brooklyn

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—You've heard that a tree grows in Brooklyn. But did you ever stop to think what would happen if you didn't want a tree to grow anymore in Brooklyn? Hearken, then, to this tale of a landlord's woe.

He owns a house in Brooklyn with a towering popular tree in the front yard, a tree sturdy at the base but balding at the top.

Most trees attacked households in only one way—the roots creep into the basement and try to throttle the furnace. But this popular tree attacked from top to bottom. Its powerful roots kept breaking into the cellar, and its crown shed decaying branches on the heads of passersby.

"Somebody's going to sue me if I don't get rid of that tree," the landlord decided.

But how do you get rid of a tree in Brooklyn? It was too tall to be axed by an amateur.

Well, naturally, in this day and age, when you get a problem too big for personal handling you turn to the government. But which government? The only thing this landlord hated worse than tenants was governments. He thought all tenants paid too little rent and all governments asked too much in taxes.

Although his tree grew in New York state, which is part of the United States, the landlord decided that both Governor Dewey and President Truman would deny that its removal was either a state or federal responsibility. No use to ask them.

But how about Mayor O'Dwyer? He was the guy! Brooklyn was his bailiwick.

So the landlord, who is a Republican, swallowed his pride and asked his tenants, who are Democrats, if they wouldn't ask the city administration, as a favor to them, to please come and take away the tree.

Weeks passed. And then came a letter from the health department. The landlord's glad smile changed to a frown when he read it. It was a summons, and it said in effect:

"Your tree is hereby and to wit declared a community menace. YOU get rid of it."

"That's government for you!" muttered the landlord. He hired a crew of men to take down the tree. Then he checked and found they had no insurance against being crushed by a falling tree. Then checked his own insurance. He found that if the tree blew down in a hurricane, wrecked his house and killed his tenants, the insurance company would pay up to $40,000. But if he hired somebody to remove the tree and it toppled on the house and killed the tenants—he would have to pay all damages himself.

Well, finally, the landlord went to a professional tree removal firm. They said they would cut down and take away his tree for a mere $400.

"I could get a couple of beavers to know it down for the bark," he barked.

"Go ahead," they said. "We're not trying to drive beavers out of business."

The upshot of the matter is the landlord will have to pay $400 to get rid of his popular tree. And he still is wondering what his tenants really asked the health department to do.

The moral of this tale is that if you buy a house in Brooklyn with a tree in the yard, be sure it is a young tree. And chop it down quick!

Russian Version of Life in U. S.

By George E. Sokolsky

The seventieth birthday of the genius of the universe thundered down the corridors of history and it was even heard in New York. The Bourgeois Press, owned by private enterprise, as much as they would like to deceive their readers by saying that there is no J. Stalin and he never existed, printed columns of details about our Koba and even pictures of him, in childhood, in youth, as a Soviet hero sitting on a chair at Yalta with Roosevelt who looked sick.

At the same time they celebrated Christmas which is a Christological development of Sol Vincus. Therefore, the articles about J. Stalin disappeared and they began publishing about Albert Einstein, who writes about science in language which no one understands but it turns out to be correct. This is another capitalist contradiction.

This Albert Einstein is captive in Princeton, New Jersey, where also is situated a university. He sits there and calculates. His present calculation took him 30 years. In the Soviet Union such calculations take no longer than half as long. In fact, after we find out what it is that Einstein calculated and how to read it, we shall prove that he has, in fact, done nothing new, that in 1467, Ivanovitch of Tzaritsin found the same thing and even better. Only the Slavs being a modest people forgot to tell anyone about it. Our records are full of such modesty.

So now they celebrate here the new year, C'Novum Godum! When people are at liberty to get drunk. In New York, where I now find myself, there are many night clubs. These places are very small. Yet they have large bands, floor shows and serve dinners and liquors, and suppers and liquors. Also some people drink the liquors without dinners and suppers.

The most famous night club is called "The Stork" which is a bird that in Teutonic mythology delivers about-to-be-born children to pregnant mothers. This is an opiate to confuse children into believing that they are not a process of the estrous cycle but of God's love. This is a contradiction of the environmentalist doctrine of Michurin and is therefore wrong, as J. Stalin and the late A. Zhdanov established. Anyhow, The Stork is a small place but it is always crowded because, in such a bourgeois country like this, people go where they can't get in. Do they go to walk in the snow? No! There is no snow. Do they celebrate the New Year under the stars? No! There are no stars because the heavens are alight at night with millions of Neon signs which advertise private enterprise and corrupt the proletariat by telling them to buy what they don't need but which they like. Corrupted, they buy it.

So, they go to The Stork and other places and dance. But this is not dancing. Like everything else in this country, dancing is a contradiction. By us in the Soviet Union, when people want to dance, they throw a jump in the air. They throw out their legs; they move their arms. Their bodies sing. Here the young man takes the girl in his arms; they hold hands tightly, and wiggle. The slower the rhythm, the more intense the wiggle. They do not smile but look serious like a Titoist caught in his savage plots against J. Stalin.

Then they blow whistles. When it is midnight, they have a Bacchanalia, shrieking, blowing whistles, swinging rattles, and kissing! They drink champagne imported from France with Marshall Plan dollars. They drink enough champagne to win the next election in France.

Then they sing a Scotch song called "Auld Lang Syne." Anyhow, it could be written originally by the great poet, J. Stalin. In order to study this queer country, I acted like a native with all the trimmings and returned to my lodgings early in the morning after eating scrambled eggs and salami at Lindy's where the salami is made Rumanian fashion.

Well, C'Novum Godum which, in the custom of these people, is translated, "here's looking at you!" what a contradiction!

Migraine Headache Treatment Found

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE victim of migraine headache is subject to severe attacks of pain which come on at varying intervals.

Thus, the treatment of migraine is twofold. It aims first at relieving the headache when it occurs, but is chiefly concerned with prevention of the attacks altogether or at least a reduction in their number and severity.

One Side of Head

It would appear that these headaches which usually affect only one side of the head, often occur because the arteries in the brain contract. One substance, which has been found useful in treating attacks and helping to prevent them, is known as ergotamine tartrate. It is best given by injection into a muscle as early as possible after the first sign of pain has appeared. It is suggested that the patient be taught to give these injections to himself so that he may get the preparation during the first half hour of the headache.

Another method of treatment is the use of tablets of this preparation which are put under the tongue and allowed to dissolve.

In about 8 out of 10 cases, the ergotamine relieves the headache in about an hour.

One of the barbiturates which are drugs used to quiet the nervous system may also be taken by mouth to aid in rest and relaxation.

(Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

tion. An ice-bag on the head is comforting. Rest in bed in a darkened room is helpful in relieving the pain and should be continued for at least an hour after it has subsided.

Blood Vessels

It has also been found that preparations which dilate or relax the blood vessels are helpful in the treatment of migraine. One such substance is nicotine acid, a part of the vitamin B-complex. This preparation may be taken by mouth.

Persons who have migraine are usually tense and hard-working. As a result of the burden they put upon themselves, they become tired and exhausted. When the exhaustion reaches a peak, a headache appears. Thus, in preventing attacks it may be helpful to show these people how to relax more and to avoid the strain and pressure which result from driving themselves too hard. They should get plenty of rest and sleep and moderate outdoor exercise.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
J. S.: If a child received an injury which caused him to have slight epileptic seizures, would they tend to become worse as they grew older?

Answer: In many instances, epileptic seizures do become worse with increasing age, unless proper treatment is carried out.

The child should be under the care of a neurologist.

100 Farmers At Farm Bureau's Fertilizer Meet

Two Officials From Ohio Association Are Main Speakers

Some 100 farmers from Fayette County got some new slants on factors to be taken in consideration when purchasing fertilizer from two officials of the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative Association at a dinner meeting, held Monday night at the Washington Country Club.

Harry Cook, agronomist of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, pointed out the need for figuring production costs on the basis of cost per unit (such as a bushel of corn) rather than on the basis of cost per acre.

Hugh Boyd, a representative of the fertilizer division of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, warned farmers of false and misleading claims concerning certain types of fertilizer ingredients.

Cook emphasized the importance of farmers figuring how many bushels of corn fertilizer will help them produce and at what cost per bushel rather than what the cost per acre will be for them to apply a certain amount of fertilizer.

Boyd urged the farmers to avoid paying high prices of fertilizer with minor elements in it. If the land needs minor elements, he said they should be purchased separately and applied as recommended by the county agent.

The speaker said that strikes in the potash mines have seriously threatened the fertilizer industry.

Verne Wilson, president of the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, opened the meeting by introducing W. W. Montgomery, county agent, who served as chairman of the meeting.

Montgomery introduced Harry Silcott, of the production and marketing association, Justin Owens and Frank Sollars, both of the soil conservation district, Chester Janes, county Grange deputy, and Howard Hopkins, president of the Fayette County Farm Bureau.

Officers Chosen By Banking Firm

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Milledgeville Bank of Jeffersonville, held Monday afternoon, D. H. Allen was named director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Oliver S. Nelson, who resigned last fall because of ill health.

Other directors of the bank are, A. E. Ervin, Frank E. Hidy, Ray R. Maddox, Warren W. Williams, Forrest Smith, and Mrs. O. B. Ropp.

In the reorganization, Ervin was re-elected president and Hidy vice president.

Mrs. Mildred Fent was again chosen cashier of the institution.

Officers reported that the bank had a good business throughout the year.

Hobby Club Meeting Friday at 6:30 P. M.

Rev. Lewis B. Rogers, president of the Fayette County Hobby Club, said Monday that the regular monthly session of the club will be held Friday at 6:30 P. M., opening with a covered dish supper.

Election of officers is scheduled at the business session, and following the business meeting the usual display of articles and their history will take place, as well as sale and exchange of other articles brought by members of the club.

ALBERT ZEIGLER CHILLICOTHE—Services were held Tuesday at 8:30 A. M. at St. Peter's Church, for Albert Zeigler, 70, retired baker.

"Crop Marketing" Topic at Meeting

The outlook for pork production during 1950 was discussed at the January meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Frazier.

Mrs. Frazier spoke on the topic, "Marketing Our Ohio Crops." She told the group that farmers receive 49% of the consumer's dollar today. It is predicted that this would be lowered 15% in 1950, she added.

Consequently, explained Mrs. Herschel, efficient marketing is as important as efficient production.

Since the typical farm has assets amounting to about $35,000, the farmer has a right to expect as fair a return in his investment as other businesses, she continued.

It was felt that a cooperative packing plant to process the animals sold, in addition to better advertising of Farm Bureau products, would help solve the problem.

Prior to the discussion of pork production, Lowell Kaufman conducted the evening's business.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Frazer during the social hour.

Logan Elm Badly Damaged By Ice

During the sleet storm last week the famous Logan Elm, Pickaway County, was badly damaged by ice, which broke off four major branches, so that the general appearance of the tree was greatly changed.

Most of the damage was done to the north and west side of the tree. Already limb repairs have been made, insofar as possible, by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The lower limbs remain intact. Only the upper limbs were broken.

Work on Pipeline Is Moving Slowly

A great deal of rainy weather, which has occurred since work of completing the 33 miles of 26-inch Texas Eastern gas pipeline was started in December, has greatly retarded the work.

Only some 14 miles of the line has been completed, from a point near Milledgeville, into Clinton County.

Several days during the heavy rains recently work was virtually at a standstill.

Pipe sufficient to lay 23 miles of the 33 was on hands before work of laying the pipe was started. Just when the additional 10 miles of pipe will be received and laid is still problematical.

Most of the workmen are now residing in Wilmington and other points. One of the offices, that of the inspection department, still remains at the Hotel Washington here.

Appleman--Bandy Wedding Performed In Johnstown

Miss Mary Louise Appleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Appleman of Johnstown, became the bride of Mr. Calvin C. Bandy, of Columbus, son of Mrs. Lena Bandy of this city, on Sunday January 8 in the Johnstown Methodist Church.

Rev. Walter Kreitz, pastor of the church read the double ring ceremony as the hands of the clock approached three in the afternoon before an altar lighted with candles in seven branch candelabra and a background of palms and baskets of white mums and gladoli.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Marjorie Montgomery of Johnstown presented a half hour of organ music and included in her numbers, "I Love You Truly", "Because", "Always" and "Ah Sweet Mystery Of Life". She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Milton G. Brown of Columbus, was matron of honor, for the bride, and Misses Ruth and Susan Appleman sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Mr. Kenneth Bandy of this city was best man for the groom and ushers were Mr. Charles Gibeau of Bloomingburg, and Mr. Earl Rohde of Columbus. The brunette bride given in marriage by her father wore a white satin wedding gown, fashioned with a basque bodice buttoned down the back, sheer marquisette yoke, edged with a double row of Chantilly with seed pearl trim in orange blossom design. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands and the full skirt terminated in a graceful train.

Her full length veil of illusion was held in place by a braided coronet of illusion studded with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a single orchid and white satin streamers. The bride's mother chose for the occasion a beige print dress, with brown accessories and the groom's mother wore a grey dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations. A reception was held in the church following the ceremony and the bride's table white cloth covered, was centered with a three tiered cake topped with a bride and groom. When the couple left on their honeymoon in Cleveland, the bride had changed to a beige wool sharkskin suit with brown accessories, a white top coat, with the orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder. Upon their return they will reside at 137 Wheatland Avenue, Columbus. The bride is a graduate of Monroe High School, Johnstown, and Bliss Business College, Columbus, and is employed as a stenographer at the American Jersey Cattle Club in Columbus. The groom a graduate of Fairfield High School, Leesburg, and Bliss Business College, is associated with the Universal Carloading Company. Guests from here attending the wedding were Mrs. Lena Bandy, daughters Virginia and Ruth, sons, Kenneth and Donald, Misses Joyce and Peggy Bandy, Mr. and Mrs. George Sheley, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burton, daughters, Ruth, Brenda and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bandy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer, son, Byron, Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas Jr., Mrs. Henrietta Ellis son Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Aran Ellis, son, Dane, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crone, daughter, Joyce, Mrs. Harry Sheley and daughter, Linda.

Students at WHS Prepare for Exams

Students at Washington C. H. High School can breathe a little easier when examinations roll around this year. The reason is that two half days have been added to the two full days ordinarily set aside for the exams.

Arthur Wohlers, principal, announced that the examinations will start January 17 and last through January 20, Tuesday, Jan. 17, and Friday, Jan. 20, will be half days while Wednesday and Thursday of the week will be full days.

Wohlers said the schedule was set up so that the examinations would not all be concentrated in two days, a practice in the past.

The students won't get a vacation between semesters. They report back at school the following Monday, Jan. 23 for the second semester.

Platoon System To Be Used By Lion Cagers, Coach Says

The WHS Lions will use the platoon system in basketball. The starting change in the tactics of the Blue Lions was announced today by Coach Steve Lewis.

Lewis announced the radical change after the Lions failed to click against Greenfield McClain dropping a 48-36 ball game in their seventh loss of the season.

Two platoons will be utilized by Lewis in this sudden change of strategy to pep up the play of the Lions. One platoon will start the game and play the entire first half, with the second platoon coming on in the third quarter.

Platoons Named
The first-half platoon will consist of Jordan and Sheider at forward, Shelton and Pope at the guardposts, with Neff jumping at center. Brandenburg will be the utility man held in relief for this platoon.

The second-half platoon will be made up of Robinette and Archer at forward, Blair and Alkire at guard and Barry Smith at center. Ed Pensyl will be the relief man for the last-half platoon.

The Lions' new platoon system will have a completely fresh team beginning each half. The Lions' initial practice this week is being held Tuesday afternoon.

Fraternal League Competition Keen

Competition was hot and heavy in Monday night's Fraternal League bowling at Bowland. Not one of the winners was able to turn in a clean sweep.

The high team total was turned in by the Lions as they piled up 2577 (without handicap) to win the first and last games from the boys from Mt. Sterling.

The big battle developed between the Elks and the Country Clubbers. With a total of 2552, the Elks won the last two games after dropping the opener. Gib Bireley was high for the winners with 544 and Fred Pierson set the pace for the losers with 522.

The Record-Herald crew and the Rotarians each won the first and last games. The Record-Herald turned back the Universals and the Rotarians, who tallied a fat 2523 with the help of Paul Pennington's 555 and Bill Himmelspach's 539, bested the Sabina Moose.

The Lions met Ashland last year and lost a 48-41 verdict.

Platoons Mean More Speed

The platoon system, as it is widely used in football, has speeded up the grid game immensely and resulted in a specialization that has brought greater precision to the game.

But, because of the faster, continuous play in basketball, the platoon system will just enable those men playing to set a faster pace, knowing they will just be playing half a game. Each one still has to be a good, all-round player.

It should prove especially valuable in the latter part of the game, when the opposing team's players are usually exhausted and playing on "second winds."

The Lion followers will be waiting expectantly for the Ashland battle to see what comes out of Lewis' tactical change.

Injured Halfback Elected Captain

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10 —(P)—A halfback who didn't play a single minute during the regular 1949 season will be captain of Xavier University's 1950 football team.

He is Jimmy Liber, kept off the gridiron by a broken wrist until the Jan. 2 Salad Bowl game which Xavier won against Arizona State.

He was Xavier's leading ground gainer in 1948. He will be a senior next year. Liber was elected captain last night.

Some 10,000,000 gallons of frozen concentrated orange juice were produced in the 1949 season.

Ben and Herman Cohen of Baltimore make another attempt today to swing a million dollar deal for the purchase of Randall Park Race Track here.

Negotiation on price terms were stalled at a meeting yesterday with Randall owners, Sam Lombardo and John Masoni. The four meet again this afternoon.

WHS Cubs Shape Up For McClain Battle

The WHS Cubs worked out hard at the high school gym Monday night in preparation for the approaching clash with Greenfield Junior High this Wednesday at 4 P. M.

Coach Fred Pierson put his boys through a fast session to sharpen up their layups and fast-breaking attack.

The Cubs also spent time on their set shots, so should be equipped to meet McClain with an all-round offense.

Home-Court Advantage
In addition, the team playing on its home court usually has the slight edge that comes with familiarity with the spring of the backboard and hoops, so the Cubs will enter with that advantage.

The WHS junior high quintet sports a 1-1 record for the season, having beaten Wilmington, 27-17, in the season opener and then falling before Sabina last week by 30 to 25.

Probable Line-up
When asked which boys were going to play, Pierson replied: "All of them." But he announced a probable starting line-up of Milstead, Parks, Whitley, Dawson and Lewis.

Pierson emphasized that each member of the squad will be seeing action, however.

The Calumet two-year-old, Fanfare, is a dead-ringer for his older half-brother, Coalton, and is considered the leading prospect among Warren Wright's "baby" racers.

Some 10,000,000 gallons of frozen concentrated orange juice were produced in the 1949 season.

CHAPTER THIRTY
GERRY sat in the train that was taking him up to Susan's school. He sat motionless, not reading the newspaper he had bought, just staring out at the white landscape, his face closed and still and dark. But underneath this mask his thoughts and emotions were stirring tumultuously within him.
He felt rebellious and chagrined and a trifle foolish at going up to a girls' school for the help he could not manage to secure for himself. He was going unwillingly, and the closer he drew to his destination, the more unwilling he felt--and the more like an inadequate or unregenerate boy who had been summoned to the Principal's office. This Headmaster. There must be something wacky about him. He was probably one of those worldly simpletons who was in the job because he was unable to meet the conditions he would have to meet in the world beyond his campus. Unbalanced, that's what he was. Idealistic to a painful degree. Yes. Otherwise he wouldn't be running the kind of place he was running. Frankly, Gerry didn't look for much from him.

It was only desperation that had made him decide to come, plus the desire to see Susan again. He had to see her--especially after holding Alicia in his arms for that short moment last night. He had to hold Susan the same way so that he would remember, and never forget, the difference between Susan, Alicia, Susan, Alicia, Susan, Alicia. The very wheels under the train were saying both their names.

"Fairlawn! Fairlawn!"
The next station was his. The train was just crawling along and was almost an hour late. Soon it would be dark. Would Susan meet him? He doubted it. Besides, he hadn't let her know. It had been impossible to send a wire until he reached the city, and then there hadn't been time.
But she was there. And she came running like the wind down the platform toward him in her red ski suit and clumsy snow boots with her dark hair winging back from her lighted face, and the sunset a glory across the sky behind her.

"Gerry! Oh, Gerry!"
In her voice he heard her clear joy, and, putting down his over-night bag, he caught her to him, regardless of onlookers, his own spirits vaulting suddenly upward.
"Susan." He kissed her on the mouth but she pushed quickly away from him in sharp dismay.
"Oh, please! No, Gerry. I mean, not here."
"Yes, Here." He kissed her mouth again, his arm iron around her shoulders. "And here. And here." His lips swept her face.
She pulled free in a surging embarrassment. "Really, no," she repeated, in a sudden dignity. "Dr. Morgan brought me," she explained, with a backward look over her shoulder.
"Well, doesn't he know?"
"He knows but..." She stopped. "Oh," she whispered, in a kind of helpless yielding, as she took his arm and clung to it. "I don't care." He didn't care, either. About

Dr. Morgan. Or the people on the platform who might be watching. Or Alicia. All were unimportant. There was only Susan and the bright and beautiful promise of everything she held for him.
"How did you know enough to meet this train?" he asked, as they moved along together.
"I'm a mind reader." She laughed, throwing her head back so that she could look up at his dark, sparkling, handsome face. "No, I'll tell you. It's the only one. They've taken off the other until traveling is better. You had to come now or not until tomorrow. And I was sure you'd come today, since you didn't last night."
"There wasn't time last night. Alicia didn't get down to the Inn till late."
"Didn't she? But it doesn't matter. You're here now."
She stopped before a long blue car where a big man was standing with his back considerably toward them, and her voice became at once eager and respectful and triumphant. "Dr. Morgan. This is Gerry. He came! I knew he would."
The man turned and Gerry received his strong, warm handclasp, his eyes going in some surprise over the figure before him. For this person in stout British tweeds and high boots, with gray eyes keen and humorous under a visored cap, and a clean-shaven jaw, might, Gerry thought, have been anything but the Headmaster of a girls' school. He might have been a successful business man. Or a lawyer. Or a retired gentleman-farmer. He was certainly an ex-football player with that build.

"Hello, Gerry. Glad you didn't disappoint us."
Gerry smiled, all his warm, gay charm rushing out in response to that welcome. He said, "How do you do, sir? Thank you, sir. I'm very glad to be here myself."
In a moment he and Susan were in the back seat, and Dr. Morgan, at the wheel, was taking them to his house.
Gerry was not to face a campus dining room full of strange, curious, chattering girls. He was not to dine alone in the dreary old barracks of a hotel in town. He was to be the personal honored guest of the Headmaster.

Afterward, Gerry tried to recall in detail all of that two-day visit. But only certain hours and moments of it stood out.
Dinner that first night in the mahogany-paneled dining room, presided over by the motherly Mrs. Morgan, served by a young Polish student working her way through school, and enlivened by the Morgans' two children--Lotta and Nicky. In the candlelit informality of that meal, Gerry had never been more at his best, and Susan, sitting opposite him, kept sending proud glances first to Dr. Morgan and then to his wife which said plainly, "See? I told you. He's wonderful. He's worth helping."
The Headmaster had an amusing stock of stories that he told well, and laughter sounded often on the air. It wasn't like a school, Gerry thought, as he remembered school. There was no awe-inspiring "front," no show of position or authority, no rigidity. Twice Dr. Morgan excused himself to deal with some urgent matter in his office off the hall. Twice he said to the Polish girl, "Just ask him to call me a bit later, will you?" It wasn't until the meal was over that Gerry was reminded where he was. Then, putting his hand lightly on Susan's shoulder as they rose from the table, Dr. Morgan said, "Goodness! The Junior play! We'll be late if we don't get started."

Strange, going to that play. He was in one of the front rows with Susan on one side of him and Mrs. Morgan on the other, and the room full of peering, twittering girls with yellow and black faces scattered among the white, as Susan had said, and their snattering of boy-friend all around him. That to-k him back, without, however, orienting him, and, thinking--If I had stuck it out instead of running away, there wouldn't be all this fuss about Susan and me. I'd be as good--he was unaware of his long silence until Susan slipped her hand into his and, leaning close, whispered, "Oh, dear! Please look and act as if you were enjoying yourself, anyway."
"What were you thinking?"
He looked at her. "About what makes people act the way they do." "Their hormones, isn't it?" Or glands. Or something!" She laughed. But she took her hand back, faintly troubled because, even for a moment, Gerry could go away from her like that. Where did he go? When Tim is with me, he's with me all the time. And then, with a return of her anger against him, she put him from her mind.
Gerry did not forget himself again after that. But when the play was over and the chairs folded and pushed back against the walls, and the classes had gathered themselves into little separate groups around the auditorium and were cheering the actors, and Susan, beside him, was enthusiastically adding her voice to those of the others, he felt himself once more completely out of place. She sensed it and abruptly she turned toward him.
"Does all this seem very silly to you?" she asked.
"What? Oh, well, it's just something I've hardly ever known." "When were my age, what were you doing?"
"Trudging, half-starved, into Canada," he answered harshly. "That's it. That's the whole thing! I ought to have known. He's never had a chance to be young and carefree. That's why he's not quite happy."
She said, her face tender and grave, "Let's not stay here any longer, Gerry. There'll be a little dancing, but I don't care. Let's go back to Dr. Morgan's study. He said we could use it whenever we wanted to this weekend."
To her complete surprise, his eyes took on a hard gleaming as he said, "No. We'll stay here and dance. Do you think I can't?"
"Why, I... Of course not! I remember you can. It isn't that at all."
"Then what is it? Don't you think I'm behaving properly? Are you ashamed of me?"
"Gerry, no. Why ever should you think such a thing?"

Eastiders Win Kid League Game

Eastiders' defending champions romped to an easy, 32 to 15, win over Cherry Hill's squad in Monday afternoon's Kid League cage game at the Armory.

The Eastiders were paced in their offense by two of the hold-over stars from last year, Wilson and Brown. Each of these boys dropped seven shots through the hoops from the field for identical totals of 14 points.

Not a single free throw was counted by the winners and the losers tallied but one.

The Eastiders started out in high gear, racking up 14 points in the first period. That came within two points of being enough to win the game.

At the halftime, the Eastiders held a 30-9 advantage; so they coasted from there out. All told, 14 boys got into the game for the winners and ten for the losers.

Fair Directors Plan To Take in State Meeting

State Association Convention To Be Held This Week

Fayette County's annual fair directors today were cleaning up their personal affairs so they could take Wednesday and Thursday off to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers Association in Columbus.

All 13 of the board members were planning to take in at least some of the panel discussions and the big banquet which always climaxes the affair the night of the last day.

Some of the directors said they would be accompanied by their wives. Special entertainment features are usually provided for them.

Most of the directors are planning to come back home after the afternoon and evening sessions, but a few have made hotel reservations to take in the full two-day program without interruption.

Two New Members

Two members of the Fayette County board will be going to the state meeting for the first time. Preston Dray was chosen for one of the directors at the regular annual election of the county's Agricultural Society at last summer's fair, and John Sagar was appointed at the board's last meeting to fill the place of T. Harold Craig, who resigned. Dray took the place of Baldwin Rice, who was not a candidate for reelection.

Although the future of the fairground is now tied up in a legal action the board is going right ahead making plans for next summer's event.

The Agricultural Society has gone to court with its plan to acquire the tract where the fair has been held here for half a century.

It is at the annual state fair managers association convention that the directors book many special entertainment attractions for the fair. Concessionaires and showmen always are there ready to talk business and show what they have.

Ideas Exchanged

The exchange of ideas on staging a fair also are considered important. More than 1,000 fair directors from all over the state are expected at the meeting.

One of the important sessions is expected to be that which the harness racing programs are discussed. Fayette County will be represented by George A. Steen, chairman of the speed committee, Frank E. Ellis and G. Damon Baker.

Ellis, the secretary of the board here, is to preside at a joint meeting of the Ohio fair secretaries and concessionaires Wednesday afternoon.

Of general interest will be the panel discussion on the importance of advertising and promotion of a county fair.

Robert E. Minshall of Washington C. H., the secretary-treasurer of R. B. Howard & Associates, Columbus public relations consultants, is to serve as moderator. Among the participants will be a native of Washington C. H., R. Kenneth Kerr, publisher of the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette and vice president of the Ohio Newspaper Publishers Association. Others taking part in the discussions are to be Earl McMunn of the Ohio Farmer representing the farm press, and Bob Miller of station WFRD, representing the farm radio.

The sessions are to be held in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

ibility was zero as 50-mile-an-hour winds whirled snow. The mercury hit zero and colder readings were forecast.

It was below zero in Montana and parts of the Dakotas as skies cleared. Thermometers tumbled sharply as the cold mass moved into Wisconsin and Iowa and headed for northwestern Illinois and northern Indiana. Mason City, Ia. reported a drop from 36 above at midnight to 13 above at 5 A. M.

Jr. Garden Club Plans Gift of Tree

The girls of the Washington Junior Garden Club decided at their Monday evening meeting to sell "choregirls" to buy a red maple tree for the Fayette County Memorial Hospital Grounds.

Gathering at the home of Miss Joan Willis, club members heard the constitution and by-laws read by Mrs. Elza Woodruff, after which the officers were named.

Carolyn Leeth was named president; Thelma Thomas, vice-president; Carol June Wilson, secretary; Janet Wilson, treasurer and Jean Sword, news reporter.

In opening the meeting, the girls answered roll call by naming their favorite Christmas gift. Misses Barbara Allemang and Carolyn Leeth presented reports to the group. A contest was held which Barbara Allemang won.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. T. N. Willis and Mrs. Don Collins.

Mrs. Louise Howe Funeral Services

Largely attended funeral services for Mrs. Louise Bennett Howe, were held Tuesday at 10 A. M. at the Gerstner Funeral Home, with Rev. Henry Leeth in charge.

Mrs. Lydia Rumer and Mrs. Gladys Sibole sang the hymns: "Does Jesus Care?", "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?" and "Going Down the Valley". Mrs. Rumer was at the piano for the singing, and also played softly at the opening of the services and the closing.

Interment was made in the family lot in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

There were many lovely floral gifts. The pallbearers were: Henry Dearth, Ora Bellar, Jink Jones, Ralph Reeves, Phillip Pyles and Thurman Tomlinson.

Cherry Hill Blue Birds in Meeting

The girls of the Cherry Hill Blue Birds Club will make Valentine gifts for their mothers, it was decided at the Monday meeting at the home of Charlene Reinke.

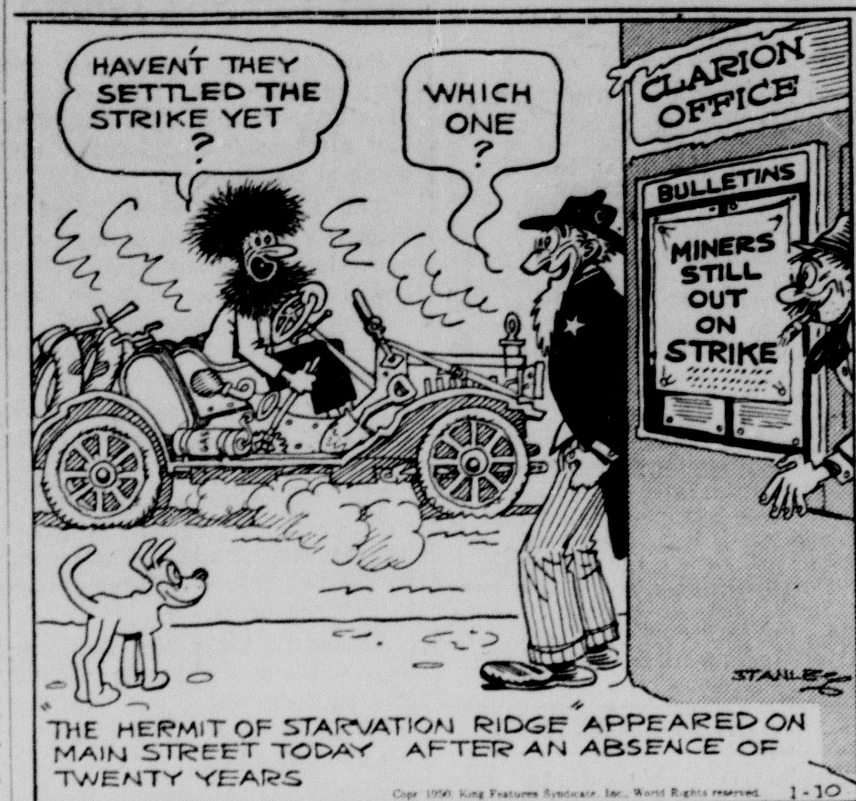

The meeting was called to order by Marilyn Miller, with each girl answering her name with a favorite tree.

The girls also made plans at the business session to present merit awards. Jane Whiteside won the favor in a contest and refreshments were served.

Mary Lou Deakyn presented the secretary's report and it was announced that the next meeting will be at the home of Marilyn Miller.

Auto Is Stolen On East Street

A dark blue Ford coach, bearing license number 506 KR and owned by Alva Hatfield, was stolen from the curb opposite the Armory on East Street, sometime Monday.

The car was parked at 7:30 A. M. When Hatfield went to get his car later in the day, it was missing. Police said the key had been left in the car.

The usual broadcasts were made in an effort to locate the car, but until early afternoon Tuesday it had not been located.

ICELAND'S NOT SO ICY!

Only about 13 percent of Iceland is covered with the ice and snow from which it gets its name, while in Greenland, 85 percent of the land is ice-capped!

There's a lot of confusion in bread names, too. Get PENNINGTON ENRICHED BREAD and be sure you get the best.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By WENDELL BRIGGS

THAT OLD FLAME

Give it a new setting! In spite of our madcap pace of living with new interests constantly crowding themselves into our lives, home still is where the hearth is.

You don't need a scale plan to transform the old fashioned fireplace and put your room in that important up-to-the-minute mood. Just paint the bricks and mantel a soft velvety black. (Dull varnish over black enamel will turn this trick.) Then put a wall-high panel of simulated marble wallpaper in black and white above the mantel. Use a mirror—smoked or clear—for this if you prefer. Hang lively vivid-printed drapes from ceiling to floor at each side, and you have made the hearth the decorative center of your room.

Sketched above: two davenports provide ample sprawling space and offer friendly hospitality. Don't worry if you can't find a new davenport that matches the one you have. Plain simple lines will harmonize with anything. Slipcover your old one for a completely new color scheme in tones that match or blend with the new.

In a small room a pair of love seats fit charmingly. Or pull-up chairs. The plan is flexible.

We have tried to anticipate your needs. Come in, we'd like to talk them over with you.
